PRESIDENT FORD

... ready for first press conference

Initial Press Conference

A 'Natural' Ford on Camera

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has rejected lengthy preparations and even the makeup that might keep his bald spot from shining on television today in the first news conference of his administration.

"Maybe they can stand the makeup out in California, but we don't think it would be acceptable in Grand Rapids," said one Ford intimate, adding that the President has a small bald spot which may shine in the bright television lights.

Ford planned to make a formal statement, then respond to a barrage of questions.

Unlike former President Richard Nixon, who spent at least three days in briefings and solitary preparation for his infrequent meetings with the media, Ford only scheduled Tuesday afternoon and a morning session today to get ready.

Aides said Ford's preparations were like a "bull session" — fielding prospective questions from counselors Robert T. Hartmann and John O. Marsh, chief of staff Alexander M. Haig, and press aides J.E. terHorst and Paul Miltich.

Ford is experienced in questions from reporters — he held 55 news conferences in his 10 months as vice president — and he has shunned all makeup, which Nixon used to hide his perspiring lip and the heavy beard used in so many cartoons before he became president.

The usual seating arrangements in the East Room were being reversed. Nixon stood before a blue curtain, flanked by pictures of George and Martha Washington. The room was turned around on Ford's orders, and Ford will stand behind a narrow podium before the corridor that runs to the State Dining Room.

The White House press office says it has been besieged by requests for the roughly 300 available seats.

Ford and his wife planned a dinner party tonight for the Cabinet, senior White House aides and their spouses. The vice presidential nominee, Nelson A. Rockefeller, and his wife were expected to fly in from their Maine summer home to attend the dinner and dancing.

Before dinner, Ford planned to discuss Project Independence, a goal Nixon laid down to make this country self-sufficient in energy by 1980, with federal energy administrator John C. Sawhill, Treasury Secretary William Simon and Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton.

The President and his family indicated they wanted to spend the weekend at Camp David, the mountaintop presidential retreat which was a favorite hideaway for Nixon, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It would be the first time that Ford has taken advantage of the hideaway which was one of former President Richard Nixon's favorite spots when he wanted to briefly get away from the White House.

The retreat was first named "Shangri-La" by former President Franklin D. Roosevelt. President Dwight D. Eisenhower renamed it Camp David after his grandson — who is now married to Nixon's daughter.

Aides said Ford would look over proposals he requested from Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and Attorney General William B. Saxbe on offering conditional amnesty to draft dodgers and deserters.

Ford has said that he wants to tip the scales in favor of leniency but is opposed to general unconditional amnesty.

Saxbe said the administration's amnesty plan would probably require at least "an act of contrition" and probably two years of public service work.

Instead of the studio effect the backdrop gave, aides feel the new setup will give television viewers the feeling that the President is really in the White House. Behind him, they will get a view through the doorway into the long red-carpeted cross hall of the White House.

Ford also met on Tuesday with economic advisors, who presented him with several proposals for aiding the faltering housing market.

James T. Lynn, secretary of housing and urban development, indicated that Ford might act before next month's summit conference on the economy. The housing industry is one of the sectors hardest hit by inflation and economic stagnation.

Dean's List Student Fails as Robber

NEW PALTZ 1970 gold and white Oldsmobile, and drove away. State police, FBI agents and officers from the New Paltz town and village police departments were at the scene in minutes. Police set up roadblocks at strategic points throughout the area, and state police helicopters joined in the search for the car.

About an hour later, the car, which was reportedly owned by Maddox's sister, was found parked on campus, a short distance from Route 32. About two hours later, Maddox was arrested. Police admitted today that they are frankly baffled by Maddox's conduct. No official motive was offered for the alleged crime.

"It was just a stupid thing," said one police officer, "it seems like he knew he was going to be arrested all along."

Another policeman added, "I guess he figured he needed money and this was the quickest way to get it. But he certainly didn't take the usual precautions."

Police described the unusual scenario, which began at about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday:

Dressed in dark pants, a white T-shirt and a dark windbreaker, Maddox allegedly walked into the Bankers Trust office on Huguenot Square and approached a female teller at the far end of the cashier's counter. Police allege that he then drew a handgun, pointed it at the teller, and demanded that she fill a paper bag he was carrying with cash. The teller, said police, complied quickly and quietly. Maddox then allegedly left the bank, got into a charge, committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of the $20,000 bail, and ordered to appear for preliminary hearing on Friday.

All the money taken from the bank, said police, as well as the bank allegedly used in the stick-up, was found in the trunk of the car Maddox drove away in.

Bits and pieces of Maddox's background were revealed Tuesday and today. Authorities confirmed that the Bronx resident was paroled from the minimum-security Wallkill Correctional Facility two years ago after serving time for a murder conviction. Police refused, however, to divulge any further information concerning the particulars of his case.

Maddox, a summer resident of the Bronx, had attended the State University College at New Paltz for two years — and was about to enter his third year — under a full scholarship provided by the Educational Opportunity Program. He was a Dean's List student.

"It's a very strange case," said Town of New Paltz police chief John Taylor today. "I don't understand it at all. He has an account at the bank, used an I.D. card to identify himself, he goes to a teller he knows, and drives away in a car that can be traced to him. But he doesn't make any attempt to leave the area. He's supposed to be a pretty smart guy."

$300 Thousand Ulster Town Hall Planned

LAKE KATRINE

The Town of Ulster has announced plans to construct a new $300,000 town hall building in Lake Katrine with funds that have been set aside yearly since a 1971 building referendum was turned down by the voters.

There will be no public referendum this time around because the town does not intend to finance the project through the issuance of serial bonds. Town officials said they should have enough money saved by the end of this year to pay the total cost of the project.

In the past 15 years, Town of Ulster voters have rejected three proposed bond issues to finance construction of a new town hall.

The new 60 by 120-foot steel building will be built on five acres of town-owned land near the intersection of Lohmaier Lane and Mulvin Drive in Lake Katrine. The building itself will face Route 209, a short distance from the Neighborhood Road exit.

Town of Ulster Supervisor Carmine Sabino told the Freeman that plans and specifications for the new building will be completed and ready for bidding by Sept. 1. The town hopes to award contracts within 30 days of that commencing sometime in October. If all goes according to schedule, said Sabino, the building could be completed by next spring.

Although the taxpayers won't be allowed to decide the fate of this latest building proposal, there will be an informational meeting this Friday night to explain all facets of the plan. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the M. Clifford Miller Junior High School auditorium.

The new building will feature a 38-by-30-foot meeting room, with folding doors leading to an adjoining 20-by-30-foot courtroom, where town meetings and hearings will be held. By comparison, the town board presently meets in a cramped 14-by-30-foot room in the former State Police barracks on Route

9W. That same room is shared by the Town Justice Court, the Planning Board, the Zoning Board, and other town agencies.

There will also be separate offices for the town supervisor, his secretary, the town clerk, assessor, water and sewer departments, the building inspector and planning board. The town justices will also have their own office, or chambers.

The building contains a full basement, that will be used immediately for storage, but which may later contain a large community meeting room as well as headquarters for the town's expanding police department.

All furnishings and equipment in the existing town hall will be moved to the new building. The monthly rent is $175, plus maintenance and all utilities. With the referendum defeat in 1971, the town decided to set aside money each year for eventual construction of a new building. Sabino pointed out that the money, at times, has earned as high as 12 per cent. The town She drew the plans for the building that was proposed, but never built, in 1971.

Before 1960, there was no such thing as an Ulster Town Hall; mentioned Sabino, "but there's no town officers maintained offices question that we're spending in their private homes. In the money for something we 1960's, the town rented space in desperately need. And it will be the Lake Katrine Grange Hall, around for years to come."

The town has rented the former State Police barracks on that essentially the same building. Rent 9W from Nelson Redding could have been built for Mix Cement since October, 1971, $110,000 in 1964.

Woodstock Meeting on Sewage

By TIM SCHUSTER

WOODSTOCK As torrential rains drove Woodstock's sewage down the overburdened Sawkill outside, about 100 persons gathered in the Woodstock Elementary School and listened to the town board's proposal for a $2.5 million sewerage treatment plant.

The bulk of the questions following the presentation dealt with whether or not it was "fair" to distribute costs outside a strictly defined sewer district comprised of the most densely settled segment of the town.

Supervisor Vern May explained the difference in concept between a "district" and a "sewerage improvement area," saying the proposal fell into the latter category because it allowed for "indirect benefits" to residents outside the district.

A schedule of estimated payments showed that everyone in the town would fall into one of three categories, and the cost would be distributed accordingly.

Those in the service area would pay $18 per thousand assessed valuation the first year; those in the future district areas numbered, two, three, and four would pay $3.25 per thousand; and those not included in these would pay $1.25 per thousand.

In addition, a surcharge for heavy users, such as commercial enterprises, would be hit with additional levies. The figures quoted would decrease each year for the 40 year life of the bond, as the principal and related interest payments decreased.

A breakdown in costs for the proposal would have the sewer lines costing $1.3 million; treatment plant $300,000; excavations $500,000; contingencies $210,000 and engineering and legal services $210,000.

A time table, if followed, would have the town file for aid, get permits and make an environmental study if the proposal were approved Nov. 5 reports, test borings and field surveys would be completed; in 1976 final plans, specifications, advertising for bids and awarding contracts would be accomplished; and by the spring of 1978 the project would be completed.

Cost figures were computed as if no state or federal aid would be available. If such aid could be received, it was estimated that about $500,000 of the $2.5 million could be assumed by the aid, thus lowering the per capita assessments.

The bond issue would be for construction only of what was termed District I. Boundaries of the district would roughly include an area starting with the plant located at Big Deep on the Sawkill, along the stream to Tannery Brook Road, across to Route 212 to include Woodstock Estates and west to Schoonmaker Lane, east to Orchard Lane along Lower Byrdcliffe and Glasco Turnpike, down to the high point of Meadow Road, along behind the Recreation Field, Woodstock Cemetery, including all of Fraleigh Meadow to Plochmann Lane, then to Easton Lane.

Sewer lines would be placed along both sides of the streets, including the main along Route 212. The main would start off to the west at 18 inches and grow to 21, 24, and finally to 27 inches to the plant.

Future district II would be along the Bearsville Flats; District III would be south of Sawkill Creek toward Ohayo Mountain; District IV would be northeast of the hamlet and Route 212.

Those who participated in the panel discussion were Supervisor May, Jim Mullen, New York State Dept. of Environmental Conservation; John Power, Ulster County Health Department; Dr. Bartholomew Dutto, Health Commissioner; Paul Van Wageningen of the engineering firm of Brinnier and Laros; and Greg Evert, chairman of the Woodstock Environmental Commission.

Many residents were concerned with alternatives to a sewerage system. Those on the panel stressed that there were no viable alternatives that would be accepted by the state, and that individualized treatment facilities would be at best a postponement of an inevitability.

Dr. Dutto said that the situation at present "is serious" in Woodstock and "we have reached the point of harsh reality." He forecast having to begin closing businesses down, evacuating dwellings if disease broke out, and curtailing all construction in the central portion of the developed town.

Beer and Conscience

NEW PALTZ

A guilty conscience, a few beers and a sympathetic ear apparently resulted in a confession of murder, Monday afternoon at a New Paltz tavern.

Monday night, around 7 p.m., Fred Locust, 27, turned himself in to New Paltz Police, telling them that he was wanted in connection with the murder of a 21-year-old man in Morristown, N.J. last May.

New Paltz town police notified Morristown police and confirmed Locust was a suspect in the stabbing death of Harry Watt on May 13. The suspect was confined in the county jail overnight. Tuesday afternoon he was extradited to New Jersey.

The drama that led to the confession/arrest of Locust apparently began in a New Paltz tavern around 5 p.m. after Locust got off work.

Locust had hitchhiked into town and he and his driver stopped off at a village tavern for a few beers.

"From what we heard, he was feeling despondent," a local law enforcement officer told the Freeman. "He had a few beers and the two of them (Locust and the man who gave him the ride) got to talking."

"He told the guy he had a 'big problem.' The guy asked him what it was. He told him and the guy advised him to turn himself in."

Locust, apparently figuring confession was good for the soul did just that.

MAKING FRIENDS—Gov. Malcolm Wilson offers congratulations and a handshake to Maureen P. Gordiner, the first woman trooper in the history of the New York State Police, during opening day activities at the New York State Fair in Syracuse Tuesday. More than 52,000 persons braved day-long showers and thunderstorms to attend the fair, but Tuesday's dismal weather dampened hopes that the "Super Fair" may establish an all-time attendance mark. Last year, the fair drew 62,000 on opening day. It concludes on Sunday. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Elected to Board

LAKE PLACID — Richard L. Treat, vice president and publisher of The Daily Freeman, was elected to the board of directors of the New York State Publishers Association, Inc., as the group concluded a four-day convention Tuesday at the Whiteface Inn.

H. K. Williams III, president, publisher and editor of the Dunkirk Evening Observer, was elected president of the group.

Robert J. Danzig, publisher of the Capital Newspapers at Albany, was elected vice president and John E. Heselben, vice president of the Gannett Company, Inc., of Rochester, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Joining Treat on the board of directors are Thomas P. Dolan, president and publisher of the Westchester Rockland Newspapers Inc.; Robert R. Eckert, president and publisher of the Binghamton Press and the Binghamton Sun-Bulletin; and Stanley Asimov, assistant publisher of Newsday, Garden City, L. I. Dolan served the past year as association president.

Treat, long associated with the newspaper business, came to the Freeman as assistant general manager in November, 1966; was named general manager in April, 1967 and was named publisher in December, 1970.

Treat graduated from Middlebury College in Vermont in 1941 and began his newspaper career in the advertising department of the Boston Post. In 1942 he joined the Navy as an aviator and flew combat missions in the Pacific Theater.

Discharged from the Navy in 1945 with the rank of lieutenant, he rejoined the Boston Post, serving as classified advertising manager and retail advertising manager until 1956.

He and his wife, Mary, reside in Kingston and are the parents of two sons, Richard L. Jr. and Donald J.

Fish Sr. Takes Ad for Nixon

DALLAS (UPI) — The father of an anti-Nixon member of the House Judiciary Committee who favored Nixon's impeachment, said Tuesday's Dallas Morning News said.

Any attempt to try Mr. Nixon for cover-ups, which he considered were in the interest of his party and the nation, would promote an unfair and vindictive trial. It would escalate the Watergate fanaticism and savagery that have already caused loss of prestige and confidence throughout the world, and unemployment, economic and stockmarket deterioration in the United States.

"There are very few fanatical Nixon haters in Congress who would like to lynch him in an obviously unfair, Washington spectacle or Roman holiday," Fish is the father of Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-Millbrook, N. Y.), a member of the House Judiciary Committee who favored Nixon's impeachment.

This is "an appeal to the American people, Democrats, Republicans and Independents to use their Constitutional right of free speech to write their senators and President Ford protesting the revival of the Watergate inquisition on a larger and more devious scale by an obviously unfair trial in Washington, D.C., of former President Richard M. Yacht-Jacking by Smugglers WASHINGTON (AP) — Sailboats and motor yachts are being hijacked for use in ocean drug-running operations with hundreds of American owners and crews disappearing without a trace, a New York congressman says.

Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., says "None of the owners of missing vessels have been found and law enforcement officials assume most or all have been murdered."

Murphy, chairman of the House Merchant Marine-Coast Guard subcommittee, said he based his statements on actual Coast Guard cases and investigation by subcommittee staff members.

"Literally hundreds of boats there has been a pattern of disappearance in the southeastern Atlantic, the Gulf of Mexico, along the Pacific Coast and in Hawaii," Murphy said in a report to the subcommittee.

"The great bulk of the victims were actual or suspected target of drug smugglers who have found hijacking can be accomplished easily and the owners disposed of without much fear of apprehension," Murphy said.

Murphy on Monday announced hearings on the yacht-jackings to begin today. His intent is to develop procedures to warn boat owners of the dangers of yacht-jacking. The leadoff hearing witness will be Coast Guard Commandant Adm. Owen E. Siler.

A Coast Guard source said there has been a pattern of disappearance in the southeastern Atlantic, the Gulf of Mexico, along the Pacific Coast and in Hawaii, Murphy said in a report to the subcommittee.

State Police Arrest Pair In Policy Operation

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — State police arrested two suspects Tuesday in what they described as a $100,000 a year policy racket operating in this Lower Hudson Valley City.

Troopers identified the suspects as Steven Culepper, 25, and Frederick Lippi, 53, both of the town of Newburgh.

Investigators said they worked on the case for two months. They said they confiscated a number of policy slips and $5,000 in cash.

Culepper was released in his own custody for a Sept. 4 court appearance. Lippi was released on $500 bail and ordered to appear Sept. 10.

Rent Complex for Greek Cypriots

By United Press International

Workmen began clearing ground on Cyprus today for a giant tent complex to house tens of thousands of refugees forced from their homes during a month and a half of turmoil on the war-torn island.

President Glafkos Clerides ordered eight tent cities built near the southeastern port of Larnaca to shelter the first of an estimated 200,000 Greek Cypriots left homeless by the conflict.

Guerrillas have begun seeking refugees for an underground war against Turkish troops occupying northern Cyprus, and the camps were expected to become recruiting grounds for commandos.

Turkey and Greece insisted on sharply opposing positions toward peace talks, spurring guerrilla recruitment and casting a shadow over attempts to move the crisis from the battlefield to the conference table.

In Ankara, Turkey announced its rejection Tuesday of a Soviet proposal for expanding the Cyprus peace talks and called instead on Greece to return "without delay" to the negotiations in Geneva.

The day before, Greece accepted the Kremlin's call for expanding the Greek-Turkish-British talks in Geneva to include the 15 U.N. Security Council members.

In Nicosia, a new guerrilla group calling itself the Cyprus Liberation Army said Tuesday 300 Greek Cypriots have started training for commando raids against the Turkish invasion force.

Clerides said earlier in the day any attempt by the invasion force to partition the island formally could trigger guerrilla warfare by Greek Cypriots "defending their land." "There will be a will of the people to resist and I don't think it will require the sanction of anybody to translate itself into action," Clerides, a Greek Cypriot, said.

Cypriots of Greek origin outnumber residents of Turkish background 4-to-1 on the eastern Mediterranean island of 700,000. The two communities have clashed periodically since independence from Britain in 1961.

A U.N. spokesman reported cease-fire lines on the island relatively quiet with only three minor violations in the past 24 hours. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim flew back to New York after a trip to the crisis region.

The crisis erupted July 15 when the Greek-led Cypriot national guard overthrew the government of Archbishop Makarios. Turkey invaded the island five days later to head off union between Cyprus and Greece.

Kissinger Continues Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger today begins his fifth round of talks with foreign ministers who could help get the Middle East peace talks going again in Geneva.

Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister Omar Sakkaf was due to arrive in Washington late today and meet with Kissinger in almost continuous session Thursday and Friday.

Sakkaf is No. 5 in the Middle East foreign minister pilgrimage within the last five weeks.

First was Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon. He was followed by the foreign ministers of Jordan, Egypt and Syria, with Jordan's King Hussein dropping for a special session of his own with Kissinger and President Ford.

Kissinger and his visitors have given only the blandest estimates of the way the talks have been going. "Encouraging, useful, helpful," are the usual phrases that Kissinger and the ministers have used.

The crew is drawing the when they said the Soyuz 15 talks were proceeding in a promising way until last week, when both the Syrian foreign minister and Kissinger declined to meet with reporters after a financially as well as morally crucial meetings and also failed to issue a communique.

While Israel, Egypt, Syria and Jordan were the only situation was its participation in the oil embargo against the United States in particular and other countries which it considered to be following a pro-Israeli line.

Saudi Arabia's principal contribution to the Middle East

in the oil embargo against the United States in particular and other countries which it considered to be following a pro-Israeli line.

Sakkaf's visit is therefore seen by officials as one of the most important of the five Kissinger has held in the current series.

Cosmos End Space Mission

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soviet cosmonauts suddenly ended their mission in space today and prepared to return to earth, apparently failing to dock with Russia's orbiting laboratory despite repeated approaches.

The official Tass news agency gave no indication of trouble aboard the Soyuz 15 craft, carrying two space rookies, Col. Lev Demin, 48, and Lt. Col. Gennady Sarafanov, 32.

The Tass report, however, did not include the standard phrase "The flight systems were proceeding normally."

The crew is drawing the when they said the Soyuz 15

the spaceship prepared for return to earth," Tass said.

The 20-ton Salyut 3 space station, boarded for 16 days last month by the Soyuz 14 cosmonauts, was continuing its own flight "in the automatic phase," Tass said.

Tass gave no indication when the two cosmonauts would come down.

The announcement surprised some Western space experts who expected Sarafanov, the first grandfather to fly in space, to link up with the lab.

spacecraft's objectives were to further the studies begun by its predecessor.

The Western experts had said they expected the latest cosmonauts to stay aloft a week or 10 days.

Tass said the two men, who blasted off Monday night, spent Tuesday "perfecting the technology of piloting the ship in various phases of flight for the purpose of maneuvering."

The news agency said the ship "repeatedly came near Salyut 3" while being manually controlled by the cosmonauts.

Never has a Soviet space station housed more than one team of cosmonauts.

Hit-and-Run Raid

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist commandos broke into the Pleiku Air Base today, tossing "satchel charge" bombs at buildings and guard posts in a hit-and-run raid against the strategic Central Highlands field.

The Saigon military command said the raiders killed one person, wrecked a warehouse and battered two guard towers in the surprise early morning raid against the airfield, 230 miles north of the capital.

A military spokesman said there were no reports of planes damaged at the field, once the base of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, Pleiku, the largest city in the Central Highlands, has a population of 39,000 persons.

He said the raiders apparently pulled back without casualties soon after creeping through the airfield's barbed wire defenses and tossing satchel charges — hand-held explosive blocks — in a lightning attack.

The Saigon command reported a drop in the intensity of battlefield activity around the country, but intelligence reports predicted heavy Communist attacks this weekend.

South Vietnamese military sources predicted Communist raids in all four military regions over the weekend, reaching a peak on Monday, North Vietnam's independence day.

The sources said a major target of the expected Communist drive would be the area around Tay Ninh, a beleaguered city 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

Communists captured Cam Long, a hamlet eight miles southeast of Tay Ninh, on Tuesday, tightening a ring around the key city guarding the Cambodian frontier.

The sources said another major target would likely be the southern approaches to Quang Ngai, a province capital 318 miles north of Saigon.

Military sources said virtually all outposts shielding Nghia Hanh, a district capital six miles south of Quang Ngai, were abandoned by government defenders in the past week.

In Cambodia, government troops killed 10 rebels Tuesday in fighting along Highway 4 about 18 miles west of Phnom Penh. One government soldier was reported killed and four wounded in the clash near the town of Ang Snoul.

Welcome for Hero Sailor

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — The port of Falmouth threw open the great double doors of its town hall to give an official welcome Tuesday to lone Atlantic sailor Bob Gainer, 21, of East Greenwich, New Jersey.

Gainer, according to records here is the youngest person to sail the North Atlantic alone. He arrived here Monday 39 days after setting out from Wickford, New Jersey, aboard his 22 and a half foot sprit sail boat Hitch-Hiker.

The town hall's double doors were opened Tuesday—a form of greeting Falmouth reserves for its most distinguished guests—and Gainer advanced up a long staircase to be met by Mayor Gordon Davey, wearing

Leash Law in Hurley

The Hurley Town Board, after a public hearing that lasted more than two hours, passed an "at-large" amendment to its dog ordinance which requires that a dog be leashed or under control anytime it leaves its owner's property.

The law provides that a dog at-large must be accompanied by his owner or someone at least 12 years of age. It will go into effect upon its publication next month.

Councilman Henry Paul made the motion after warning town residents, "you must understand that this will require a tax increase," and it was seconded by Councilman Jack Rose. Board approval was unanimous.

The town does not have a dog warden, relying on the County SPCA for that service. It was estimated that hiring a full-time dog warden with a truck would cost upwards of $15,000 a year for the first year.

In other action, the town board continued its search for recreational facilities in the township. Two properties on Dug Hill Road have been investigated by the Recreation Committee which was commended Monday night by the town board. Town officials will tour the 28-acre Pries property which is being offered at a price of $225,000. It contains several large buildings which some town officials think might be converted into a municipal complex for the town. There is also a swimming pool at the site.

The town board accepted a low bid of $1,729 for fencing of the old Hurley Cemetery from Williams Fencing Company of Ulster Park. Another Esopus firm, White Port Fencing Inc., submitted a bid of $1,890. Work will commence next week.

Several meetings were announced. The town board will meet in special session with Highway Superintendent Peter Naccarato and his staff on Aug. 28 at the town garage at 8:30 p.m. to discuss the purchase of highway equipment.

Bids on the operation of the landfill for next year will be opened at the town hall (Hurley Library) on Sept. 23 at 8 p.m. Councilman Rose asked for a meeting between the town board and the planning board for Sept. 16 at 7:30 in the town hall.

A dog enumerator is needed in West Hurley. Interested persons can contact Town Clerk Patricia Glass.

Registration in the town will be held at the West Hurley Fire House and Hurley Fire House on Sept. 28 and Oct. 10 from noon to 9 p.m. All eight voting districts will be open Primary Day, Sept. 10 and Election Day, Nov. 5.

The board voted not to purchase a new copying machine for Town Clerk Glass, ordering that she continue a rental agreement until next year's budget is drawn up.

Residents of Holly Hills asked the board to establish a 25 miles per hour speed limit. It is now 50. The State Department of Transportation has jurisdiction and will be contacted.

Arthur Bowen of Hurley asked the board to consider three Conservative Party members, himself included, for appointment to the Assessment Board of Review. The five-year term would commence Oct. 1. Bowen also listed the names of John Miraglia of West Hurley and John Devine of Hurley.

Dr. Alan Altman of Woodstock sought information on procedures for a zoning amendment to build a professional office building on Route 375. He was advised to formally petition the town board.

The board had to refuse a request from the West Hurley Fire District to loan it $1,452 which the firemen said was overcharged by Ulster County due to a "clerical error." The firemen will have to seek redress from the county since the town board can not legally loan money.

And, the town board gave permission to its attorney, Robert McKinnon, to sign a petition on behalf of the town, seeking an investigation by the State Attorney General of the high cost of fuel. A consumer group is sponsoring the petition drive.

State Appointment for Savago

KINGSTON Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) has received word from Gov. Malcolm Wilson of his appointment as a member of the new Manpower Services Council of New York State. Formal announcement of the appointment is expected to come later this week.

Savago said he was very pleased to have been selected especially so "because a representative of Ulster County will now have a say in setting up a program for the state." He will serve without compensation.

In his letter to Savago, Gov. Wilson said that the newly established council will undertake a tremendous responsibility and, within the framework of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), determine important planning needs to better and the working men and working women of the state through local administration of the federal program.

Savago's appointment is especially significant in that Ulster County was one of the first counties in the state to file and receive federal allocation for the administration of the federal CETA program to help combat unemployment. It was announced earlier this month that Ulster County had been allocated $1,025,220 in federal grants covering three contracts under CETA.

New York State will be administering CETA grants for 33 counties which were not eligible to file separately because of lower population figures.

Members of the council will review plans of prime sponsors and also the availability, responsiveness and adequacy of state services. They will also be responsible for submitting an annual report on the progress of the council's work.

Savago has served as chairman of the Ulster County Legislature since 1968 and prior to that served as chairman of the old County Board of Supervisors in 1967 when Charles Relyea resigned as chairman. He served as supervisor for the Town of New Paltz from 1960 through 1967 and was majority leader of the Board of Supervisors for two years.

Savago also serves as chairman of the Ulster County Temporary Manpower Council established in late 1971. He serves as a member of the Mid-Hudson Inter-County Council and had been chairman in 1972 and 1973.

As a member of the New York State County Officers Association, Savago serves on the Association's Hot Line Committee.

He is president of the Peter J. Savago Insurance Corporation, New Paltz and is a trustee of the First National Bank of Highland (New Paltz Branch).

Members of the new State Manpower Services Council serve without compensation. Robert C. Josh Randall serves as county manpower administrator for the county's CETA grants.

Temporary Director Is Named

KINGSTON An acting probation director has been appointed for a two-month period by Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago to temporarily fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Charles Schultz.

Savago named Kenneth Fogarty, probation program consultant with the New York State Division of Probation who will provide his services to the county at no cost. Such an assignment is possible under the state's executive law and will provide Savago with additional time in which to make a permanent appointment.

During his tenure as acting director, Fogarty will direct the activities of the department and actively assist Savago in the selection and appointment of a permanent director.

He will also assess the present organizational structure of the department and make any necessary recommendations for changes.

Savago said Fogarty also will engage the probation department personnel in an overall assessment of their current procedure practice in an attempt to move the department toward setting and attaining achievable objectives consistent with current management and correctional theory and cost effectiveness.

Schultz resigned his post Aug. 20 after having been in public service for 19 years.

The duties of the probation director include responsibility for planning, organizing and directing the activities of the department, having a professional staff of more than a dozen probation officers as well as a number of State Director of Probation.

clerical and administrative employees. The department is presently maintained on a 1974 total appropriation of $153,735. Of that amount $76,867 is reimbursable by the state. The majority of the expenditures go for salaries.

Applicants for the post of director are required to have three years' experience in a supervisory or administrative position in a probation agency.

Fogarty's appointment met the approval of Walter Dunbar, State Director of Probation.

Consumers Issue Letter On Stores, Transportation

ELLENVILLE The Concerned Consumers have made public a letter written to Ellenville Mayor Robert Dowling, expressing concern about possible relocation of two Ellenville supermarkets, and urging a system of public transportation for both Ellenville and Ulster County.

In the letter, the Concerned Consumers said the A&P in Ellenville was considering relocating to the "southern outskirts" of Ellenville, and the Daich Shopwell and the new shopping center being built in Napanoch.

"Apart from any other impact those moves might have on the village," said the letter, "we would particularly like to call your attention to the effect this hearing.

would have on local senior citizens and other residents who depend on shopping on foot since they have no means of transportation."

Urging the village board to plan for "some kind of local transportation system," the letter noted that the Concerned Consumers have for some time been campaigning for public transportation on a county-wide basis.

Mrs. Belle Sundeen, president of the Concerned Consumers, has announced a hearing on mass transportation in Ulster County Sept. 12 at 4 p.m. in the County Office Building, with a resolution to be presented to the County Legislature that would particularly like to call night. The public is invited to your attention the effect this hearing.

Dem Senatorial Hopefuls List Their Expenditures

BUFFALO (AP)—The three Friday from Stephen Smith, needs a professional business man. All three candidate met for a radio and television debate here Monday during which Hirschfeld blamed most of the nation's ills on his claim that the Congress is dominated by lawyers. Hirschfeld quoted the Bible and told a story which blamed lawyers for all the chaos in the world.

Alexander, 47, campaigning with a style reminiscent of former New York City Mayor John Lindsay, stressed his familiarity with big city problems. The newly-revised Alexander strategy, according to Byer, will be to delineate the mayor from Clark on the issues of amnesty, busing and the quota employment system.

Clark, supported by the party's liberal-reform wing-the New Democratic Coalition-said he favored blanket amnesty for Vietnam War resisters and said busing and quotas were needed to implement integration.

Hirschfeld, 54, whose favorite campaign slogan is "Call me Abe," said the thrust of his race would be that Congress

U.S. senatorial nomination in the Sept. 10 primary have revealed total campaign expenditures of about $450,000.

Abraham Hirschfeld, a multimillionaire New York City businessman, said he has spent between $200,000 and $250,000 on his bid, including $120,000 for television commercials.

Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has spent most of the $166,000 raised for his effort, said Frank Hess, Clark's campaign manager. Hess said Clark would not campaign on television.

Syracuse Mayor Lee Alexander has spent $40,000 of the $51,000 raised by his organization, said Clint Byer, an Alexander campaign aide. About $15,000 went towards a television campaign begun last Friday, Byer said, and added, "We spend it as fast as we get it."

Hirschfeld, who said his personal financial worth was "about $5 million," said he received a $1,000 contribution last Nixon's Colossal Mistake . . .

Editor's Note: The following story about former President Nixon's campaign decisions was written by former Newsweek contributing editor Raymond Moley who counseled Nixon from time to time. One of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's original "brain trusters," Moley wrote the book "The First New Deal," headed Roosevelt's 1932 campaign and wrote some of FDR's "Fireside Chats." Moley also has written syndicated newspaper columns. This is a condensed version of a copyright series of articles being published by the Arizona Republic and made available to The Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — In his address to the nation, Richard Nixon gave this as his reason for giving up: "It has become evident to me that I no longer have a strong enough base in Congress to justify continuing that effort (to remain in office)."

This was a confession that, due to the defection of a large part of his Republican support, further resistance to impeachment and removal would be useless. In saying this, whether he realized it or not, he revealed the key to the whole Watergate tragedy and his own downfall. He removed his political interests from the official Republican party, and so his Republican friends in Congress would not fight to keep him in office.

What he did not say, perhaps because he has not yet realized it, was that the whole Watergate affair and his downfall was the result of a decision he made five years before.

Richard Nixon's colossal mistake was in separating his campaign for president from the official Republican party and in placing his political fortunes in the hands of an incompetent amateur, John N. Mitchell.

A month after election in 1960, Nixon asked (former presidential adviser) Bob Finch and me to meet at his home to discuss the future of the Republican party.

He promised to make a public announcement that he intended to make absolutely no effort to win a renomination in 1964, but to spend the next four years as chairman of the Republican National Committee, laboring to strengthen the party organization.

Nothing more was ever heard of this Nixon plan.

By 1965, the traditional routine that governed the two parties had quite generally been regarded as obsolete, inefficient and badly in need of reform.

Many voices had been raised, suggesting that the chairman in both parties should no longer be a part-time functionary. Instead, there should be a full-time, salaried, working chairman.

Finally, after the crushing defeat of Goldwater in 1964, several party leaders arranged to elect the national Republican chairman, Ray Bliss.

When Nixon entered the contest for the nomination in early 1968, he had, as was customary of one of his law partners, John N. Mitchell. I saw nothing unusual about the selection of Mitchell except his total lack of political experience.

I assumed that the new regime of a permanent chairman had been accepted by Nixon. I made an appointment to talk with Nixon on Dec. 16. I came to the point once, asking what was to become of Bliss and what were his (Nixon's) plans for a national chairman.

His answer was totally ambiguous and his description of what the function of a national chairman should be was a return to the old system of a missionary, part-time chairman. Considering the number of times we had been over all this in the past, the assumption that he was enlightening me was insulting to my intelligence.

Saying that he wanted me to meet Mitchell, he summoned him from another office. Then came another comment which was substantially another insult: "Ray, here, is a Bliss man."

The meeting ended with my promise to write out my argument in letters to Nixon and Mitchell. These letters I composed with great care and dispatched in a very few days. I had no response from either man.

Shortly after the dawn of the new year Bliss was summoned to New York, had a conference and, perhaps at the suggestion of Nixon, resigned.

After the conference in New York, Bliss sought to get the president-elect on the telephone in Florida. He was not connected with Nixon but found the job of money raising. In himself talking with (president-staffing CRP, Mitchell seems to have preferred men wholly deservingly told him that he was composing a letter of resignation for Bliss to sign. Bliss said he was perfectly capable of writing his own letters.

With an important political election approaching, the loose arrangement with which President Nixon's political affairs were handled after the 1969 inauguration was supplanted by the creation of the Committee to Re-Elect the President.

Mitchell resigned as attorney general and assumed the direction of CRP. Also Maurice Stans quit the cabinet and took publican party.

It was his lack of understanding of the consequences of what he did and not his moral depravity that brought about the downfall of Richard Nixon and the shattering of the Republican party.

New Crime Drive

The Justice Department's projected new anti-crime drive will be aimed at "major criminals, the repeat violators, the very small fraction of a per cent of people who are terrorizing our communities." The words are those of Attorney General William B. Saxbe, who sensibly cautions that this campaign is "not another rabbit in the hat that we're going to pull out."

This is a thing to remember as a guard against expecting too much from what is just one more of many attempts to slow down or reverse the growing crime rate. These attempts have met with indifferent success, as FBI crime statistics make clear: a 15 per cent increase in the number of reported crimes the first three months of 1974, on top of a 16 per cent rise the last three months of 1973.

Still, there is some reason to believe that the new plan to identify the worst offenders and try them without delay may have a dampening effect on the crime rise. Swift punishment has been shown to be one of the best means of deterring criminal behavior.

Curbing Energy Powers

States of emergency tend to outlive the situations they were meant to deal with. President Roosevelt's declaration at the time of the depression in 1933 is technically still with us, for example, as is President Truman Korean War emergency of 1950.

These and other existing presidentially declared states of emergency should be ended, in the view of the special Senate Committee on Emergency Powers. Obviously the committee is right, and action along these lines should be taken.

This could be done through enactment of legislation, introduced by Sens. Frank Church of Idaho and Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, whose main thrust is curbing presidential power to declare national emergencies and fixing time limits on such declarations.

There is little doubt that the measure, or something much like it, will be passed. After a meeting with President Ford, the two senators reported him "fully sympathetic," and they also claim the endorsement of both Republican and Democratic leaders in the House and Senate.

The proposal is an important one because its provisions would work to lessen the danger of abuse of presidential power. Statutes tending to foster such abuse would be repealed—for a notable example, one empowering the chief executive, secretary of state or any general to declare the country or any part of it a military zone.

The Church-Mathias bill would establish desirable rules of procedure. Should the President wish to declare a state of emergency he would be required to make a public declaration to this effect. He would have to account for any significant actions taken under the emergency state—and without the affirmation of Congress the emergency would lapse in six months. These are sound provisions. We see no valid obstacle to prompt approval of the measure.

Beleaguered Old King

In the case of Ethiopia, general distaste for monarchy comes into conflict with feelings of sympathy for the old man who has so long occupied the throne of the Lion of Judah. The treatment Haile Selassie is getting now brings to mind an aged lion surrounded by men prodding him with sticks.

Some would say he deserves no better of subjects who have suffered for so long under an authoritarian regime marred by graft and corruption. Yet seeing the sadness in the patrician features of this king as his ancient dynasty crumbles makes one wish he had passed from the scene before the revolution took place.

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Not all congressional leaders are enthusiastic about President Ford's moves to tackle the nation's nagging economic problems.

In private, some have told us they don't think his conservative policies will prevent a recession. Some even fear his policies could bring on a depression similar to the 1930s.

But they are eager to cooperate with the new President. They raised only mild objections, therefore, when he called them behind closed White House doors to explain his economic moves.

The confidential minutes show he started out jovially by telling Speaker Carl Albert about his first night in the White House. "I might have slept better," he confided. "Guess I'm not quite used to it."

But he soon got down to business. "I will not recommend wage and price controls," he told the leaders bluntly. "I hope you can join me in this position."

He passed around a joint statement, which he invited them to endorse. This renounced "any legislation for either standby or mandatory wage-and-price controls."

The statement, he said, would head off any "anticipatory" wage or price hikes.

Speaker Albert commented that Congress "as a practical matter" wouldn't pass controls anyway. But he added: "I'd prefer that we should say that wage-and-price controls are out for the immediate future."

Sen. Robert Byrd, the Senate Democratic whip, also objected. "I like the idea of standby wage controls," he said.

But the President didn't even want standby controls. "I'm against it," he declared. "Congress is against it. Labor is against it."

"We need to leave room for jawboning and guidelines," suggested Rep. John McFall, the House Democratic whip.

White House Economic adviser Herbert Stein didn't like the reaction of the Democratic leaders. "It's discouraging," he muttered. "If (this) is the sentiment, wage controls are possible."

"I don't see it that way," shot back McFall. "That's not what we're saying."

Economic counselor Kenneth Rush and budget director Roy Ash urged the President to put out an immediate strong statement against controls. "We must go ahead now or not at all," said Rush.

House Democratic leader Thomas "Tip" O'Neill agreed. "You should make a flat statement that there will be no wage-and-price controls," he advised.

"I agree with Tip," said Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott.

The President moved on to a discussion of the budget. His "target objective," he said, was to hold the budget under $300 billion. "Without cuts now," he warned, "we'll go to $340 billion in 1976."

"With $330 billion or less in revenues," piped up Ash.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield reminded the President that government agencies had a habit of getting a budget cut by coming back to Congress later with requests for supplemental appropriations.

"Congress reduces, and the agencies try to recoup by supplementals," he said. "We think Mr. Ash could do a lot to see that supplementals could be limited to new situations rather than recoupment."

President Ford wound up with a discussion of the "economic summit" that he is planning in late September or early October. He would start, he said, with some pre-summit meetings with business, labor, agriculture and consumer leaders.

"We want the unvarnished truth," the President vowed. "We've got to face up to certain economic fundamentals . . . Time is of the essence. We want visible evidence that people in government are doing something."

Some Democrats left the closed-door meeting, nevertheless, feeling that Ford may not be doing enough.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Rank still has its privileges at Andrews Air Force Base where the 14-year-old daughter of a major general was arrested recently for shoplifting nail polish from the commissary. Next day, Col. Kenneth Gunnarson, then the base commander, tore up the arrest notice on grounds that her shoplifting was "an inadvertent act."

Even some of Rep. Olin Teague's colleagues were astonished when he ordered his personal attack on Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., printed up at government expense.

"Tiger" Teague, D-Tex., got so heated at McGovern's stand on veterans' rights that he accused McGovern of "intellectual dishonesty."

Threats of misleading statements and politicking with vet issues. Customarily, members of Congress refrain from personal assaults on each other, particularly when the printed blast is paid for by the taxpayer . . . Marine officials at Cherry Point, N.C., recently put into effect a stuffy dress code for leatherneck families: "Skirts higher than mid-thigh, hot pants, hair curlers, tank tops, and halter tops if they are see-through or expose the midriff" are banned on base.

"Women must wear support garments on the upper part of the body — built-in bra will suffice." The directive does not say how the brass hats will check this requirement.

Inside Report

Ford and Israel

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Private word from a top American diplomat to a Western ambassador that Israel "has shut the door" to further withdrawal from the Syrian Golan Heights brought this instant rejoinder: "If so, that means war."

The exchange is symbolic of the sudden descent from soaring optimism that marked every step of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's brilliant shuttle diplomacy following the Arab-Israeli war of last October.

Indeed, a mood approaching black despair has now taken hold in all Arab capitals since Kissinger's last Middle East success — pinning down the partial Israeli withdrawal from Syria's Golan Heights on May 31. Since then, the abrupt change of Presidents in Washington, coupled with U.S. impotence regarding the Turkish-Greek war on Cyprus, has led Israel into bold new diplomatic intransigence.

Although it is far too early to prove them right, the Arabs fear that President Ford, long a champion of Israel as a Republican congressional leader, will be less hardnosed with the Israelis than was Richard Nixon.

Because of his extreme political weakness at home, a desperate President Nixon this year needed diplomatic successes in the Middle East as fast as Kissinger could get them and so leaned hard against Israel. Mr. Ford is under no such pressure.

Moreover, with the 1974 congressional elections only two months away, the President might be understandably reluctant to use two-fronted pressure against Israel this fall.

This at least partially explains Prime Minister Itzhak Rabin's new hard line in Jerusalem. Rabin's government has now systematically closed off every bargaining opportunity with the Arabs save one: a second-stage Israeli withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai peninsula. But that single opportunity has been tightly closed by the Arabs themselves.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is under overwhelming pressure from other Arab capitals not to make any new withdrawal agreement with Israel, on grounds that the Palestinian issue must be dealt with first. That Arab pressure would threaten Sadat with political overthrow if he went ahead, as he would prefer, with a new Israeli withdrawal agreement.

Thus, Israel's desire to negotiate with Egypt is meaningless. Sadat's hands are tied.

On the other two fronts, Rabin himself is now taking a muscular position: the Golan Heights will remain an inseparable part of Israel; and Israel's "right" to settlements in Judea and Samaria, the west bank of the Jordan River that Israel seized from Jordan in 1967, goes back to "ancient times." In other words, Israel will not make even the token six-mile withdrawal from the river that King Hussein demands as the price of attending the ever more distant Geneva conference.

This stalemate, which many experts believe will lead to a far more dangerous war — bloodier, longer and more apt to involve the superpowers — than last October's, has continued despite the parade of Israeli and Arab leaders to Washington the past few weeks.

Indeed, the Ford administration has not yet finally decided where Israel should next be pressured to move: the west bank, the Golan Heights or a combination of both.

To prepare for another war,

Israel is now negotiating with reluctant Pentagon officials for a vast increase in its military arsenal: $1 billion in "urgent" aid, on top of the $2.2 billion sent during the October war, plus a separate package of $1.5 billion a year for each of the next five years.

This is supposed to balance the huge Soviet arms shipments to Syria. But many military experts here feel it would give Israel too much potential for long-run military operations the U.S. would be powerless to stop.

Yet, threatened disintegration of the southern arm of NATO in Greece and Turkey gives new substance to Israel's arms demands. With the U.S., the United Nations and NATO itself unable to stop the Turkish invasion of Cyprus, Israel has gained an important new argument to support its demands for defense against the Arabs.

Only personal intervention by President Ford, convincing Israel that he will not relax U.S. pressure for territorial concessions, and that he stands as firmly behind his beleaguered Secretary of State as Nixon did, can now arrest the alarming decline in once bright hopes for a settlement.

Recent reading . . .

THOMAS JEFFERSON, by Fawn M. Brodie (W.W. Norton: $12.50). Highly readable and romantic biography of a great statesman who, when widowed, fell in love with Maria Cosway, an artist and another man's wife. The book rekindles an old canard that the President kept something warm on the backburner with a quadroon slave named Sally Hemings.

DREW PEARSON, Diaries 1949-1959, edited by Tyler Abell (Holt, Rinehart & Winston: $15). Revealing opinions of the great in Washington. Not worth it if you are too young to remember the cast of characters when Truman wore a bow tie.

BURR, by Gore Vidal (Random House: $8.95). Entertaining novel about a part-time scoundrel. Beware of authors who write biographies as novels.

HITLER, by Joachim C. Fest (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich: $15). Written by a German to remind Germans who would like to forget. This one is more definitive than the first great biography of Der Fuehrer by Konrad Henlein. Good reading for Americans who want to know how a nation can fall into a flaming pit.

BEHIND THE TRAIL OF BROKEN TREATIES, by Vine Deloria, Jr. (Delacorte Press: $8.95). One more in a plethora of pleas for the American Indian. Must reading for the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs.

INSIDE THE PRESSURE COOKER, by Kay Gilman (G.P. Putnam's: $7.95). Assign a blonde to cover a season of the New York Jets and you're bound to come up with some fourth and 10 situations in a boudoir. For machismo buffs in the buff.

THE GULAG ARCHIPELAGO, by Alexander Solzhenitsyn (Harper & Row: $12.50). Big blast of world publicity for this one. The book lives; I died halfway through it. Example: "A person who is not inwardly prepared for the use of violence against him is always weaker than the person committing the violence." This applies also to the person who is prepared.

THE ALMANAC OF AMERICAN POLITICS, by Barone, Ujifusa and Matthews (Gambit: $6.95). Newest and most detailed analysis of Senators and Representatives, including terse biographies and voting records. Also carries short political history of each state. Excellent for keeping on shelf until you want to know the inside lowdown about any politician.

ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN, by Bernstein and Woodward (Simon & Schuster: $8.95). How the Katzenbach Kids of the Washington Post reported a bungled burglary at Watergate and remained with the story until a President was toppled. Flawed a little by suspicions of Bernstein's and Woodward's editors that the boys were running too far too fast.

PURSUIT, by Ludovic Kennedy (Viking: $10). For those who like sea stories, this is a minute-by-minute account of the gallant flight of the German battleship Bismarck, hounded and hunted by British fleet units in a masterful chess game.

THE SECRET WAR AGAINST DOPE, by Andrew Tully (Coward, McCann & Geoghegan: $7.95). Tully, first-class reporter and storyteller, got into secret files of the U.S. Customs Bureau for reports on how agents track smugglers of heroin and cocaine around the world. Reads like a movie.

THE COLUMBIA HISTORY OF THE WORLD, edited by Garraty and Gay (Harper & Row: $20). For the busy citizen or student, this is a concise history of man from Evolution (page 1) to The State of Culture Today (page 1144). Anyone who doesn't learn from history is condemned to repeat its mistakes.

THE GREAT AMERICAN INSURANCE HOAX, by Guarino and Trubo (Nash: $8.95). Not as good as its title. Has some great tips on how to shop for policies on life, automobile, health, home, etc. Personally, I always think of insurance as a game in which I bet I'll die, and keep paying premiums, and the company bets I won't, and takes the money.

NOTHING LIKE HORSEBACK RIDING TO MAKE YOU FEEL BETTER OFF

Freeman Readers Write the Editor

Exception Taken

Editor, The Freeman:
Regarding your article of 21 August, 74, "Deputy Lauds Sheriff's Record..." I would like to comment on the opinions voiced by Deputy Sheriff William B. Haight.

If Deputy Haight wants to play Chauvin to Sheriff Martin, of course this is his prerogative. I fully concur that every man is entitled to his opinion, and I, for one, am grateful for our Constitutional freedom of expression. I am also thankful for our vehicles of communication wherein we are able to exercise this freedom. However, I would like to comment on his remarks, and, hopefully, in a less volatile manner than which he made them.

To begin with, Deputy Haight says the "do gooders" should mind their own business rather than investigate inmate complaints at the jail. I submit that the "do gooders" are a part of the public, and if there are complaints emanating from the jail, it is the public's business, and should be investigated.

Deputy Haight seems to resort to labels to qualify his statements. Example: Murderers, gunmen, rapists, etc. I agree that the unlawful killing of a human being with malice forethought is murder, and the perpetrator would, of course, be the murderer. One who carries and uses a gun, lawfully or otherwise, could be termed a gunman. To commit rapes would make one a rapist, and finally, with many more, one who washes cars could be called a car-washer. But to label committee members and concerned citizens as "do gooders" and "creeps" in the deprecating manner Haight has expressed himself is slanderous, unreasonable and irresponsible. Taking note of his (Haight's) 29 years with the State Department of Correction, his attitude leaves one somewhat appalled. After all, committees to investigate allegations and/or charges are appointed for the sole reason of finding facts, to show whether or not the allegations bear merit or are unfounded. This method is as beneficial to the Sheriff, (or any public official), as it is to the public. The indiscriminate use of the word murderer could also be found unreasonable, in that the largest percentage of murders are committed by relatives or friends in the heat of passion, therefore without malice or forethought. So, I consider it safe to say that

Saugerties Industry

Editor, The Freeman:

Twenty years ago the Village of Saugerties had several major industries located in the Village limits. These industries among them employed hundreds of people and the Village streets were busy when the 12 o'clock whistle blew. (I might add that these industries used large quantities of water). Where are these industries now? Few are located in the Village and those that are still here, are from time to time scorned because they cause an occasional traffic problem.

How are the taxpayers of our Village going to continue to meet rising Village operating costs when our tax base is continually decreasing because industry and other income properties are falling down around us? Is this progress for the Village?

The Town of Saugerties is growing and if the Village will not help our town to grow and be prosperous then soon the Village will have only the handful of small businesses that are located here to pay our Village taxes. The people cannot continue to support village business establishments and pay the kind of taxes they are, and will be paying in another year or two.

If we, the people, do not seek and encourage development in our town, if we continue to be swayed by the minority (the special interest) and do not cultivate changes, then we will be forced to watch our Village deteriorate and eventually cease to exist.

There is still hope for our Village. We must bring in outside interest. We must support our Town and cooperate with our town government. We must share resources.

There are some progressive businesses in our Village but Saugerties still needs a lot more than it has right now. Don't be swayed by special interests. Support your local government and its attempt to relieve the tax burden and the unemployment that now exists in our Village.

Labels could, and often do, misrepresent facts.

As for the destruction of property in the jail, I deplore this as much as the deputy. He (Haight) says it is done out of "spite." Also, they (the inmates) are "inmates" not "guests." The tone of these remarks alone indicates an attitude which could cause discontent on the part of the inmates. This coupled with other possible factors, would ultimately create frustrations that lead to unpredictable actions. I believe that rehabilitation, rather than restriction, should be the primary concern from the most immediate point of incarceration.

The Deputy seems to place great emphasis on the "many things" the inmates have that the public "doesn't know about." To mention a few: showers every day; change of bed linen and clothing once a week; soap; towels; even toilet paper. Mail visits from the clergy, music and writing paper. Phone calls and recreation.

True, some of this (the inmates) could live without. But I find it hard to choose. Perhaps music and tobacco? Everything else are the simple necessities of human existence. I remember times during World War II the Deputy mentioned, that I was forced to live with the same clothes for a week. I can only say that I smelled less than charming. As for the excessive use of the telephone, I would have to blame this on whoever is responsible for its control. The Deputy exhibits himself as a gourmet. He says the "good food" the inmates are served is better than what he "got" in World War II. I won't question this for I am no gastronomical expert. As a separate note, I find that they (the inmates) also get the services of a doctor and a nurse when they are needed. Imagine, all this and toilet paper too!

I agree with the Deputy that the Sheriff's phone number should, indeed, must be private. There could be no end to the possible harassment the Sheriff and his family could suffer. But he (Haight) leaves me sort of up a tree when he says "the proper people" can get the Sheriff on the phone anytime, day or night. Who are the "proper people?" I thought he was everybody's Sheriff.

I'm not trying to ridicule or embarrass Deputy Haight. I respect his loyalty to the Sheriff. But he (Haight) should consider the fact that the Sheriff, as any public official, is elected to serve the public. And when the public suspects or finds evidence or any indication of wrongdoing, malpractice or any dereliction of duty, then a committee of qualified officials or our peers should be appointed to investigate. This method is the only way we can be fair to the Sheriff, the public, the inmates at the jail and anyone else concerned. For the Deputy to call concerned citizens and officials "creeps" etc. Well, his loyalty and zeal may prove to have been a hindrance.

Fuel Adjustment

Editor, The Freeman:

Look at your bill from Central Hudson. Note the fuel cost adjustment rate of 1.438 cents per kwh.

Notice anything peculiar? Remember when there was an oil embargo and prices were high because supplies were low? What was the fuel cost adjustment rate in those bad days? Lo(w) and behold:

Dec. 1973— .406 cents per kwh.
Feb. 1974— .327 cents per kwh.
Apr. 1974— 1.087 cents per kwh.
June 1974— 1.213 cents per kwh.
Aug. 1974— 1.438 cents per kwh.

The embargo was lifted months ago. Oil companies admit supplies have increased. Arabs are getting much less than their peak prices. But Central Hudson keeps collecting more and more from their customers. Why?

Is it more profitable for them to sell oil than electricity? Are they fighting inflation, as President Ford suggested, by adding a non-inflationary tax to rising prices so as to produce a miracle of Congressional Math—lower prices?

Or have they adopted the slogan of a famous railroad tycoon—"the public be damned."

Rosendale Laws

Editor, The Freeman:

The Town of Rosendale is always printing in your paper about their meetings and each new law they enforce. One was the junk ordinance law. It stated that there should be no more than two junk cans on your property. I have a neighbor that has more than two junk cans and every other kind of junk scattered all over his property. We made a complaint to the Town Supervisor Richard Glazer who brought this to the attention of the building inspector, Mr. Person. He told this neighbor to clean up or he would be issued a summons. He was brought before Judge Albert Morelli in April. This is the end of August and his junk is still there. Evidently the judge isn't too concerned with enforcing the town law.

There is a village noise law. There should be one for the town also. This same neighbor has a group of people there at night racing their engines until 11 or 12 o'clock. The best part of it is he lives in New Paltz.

Clark Vote

Editor, The Freeman:

One of the candidates for the Democratic Senate nomination has written the Freeman, explaining the importance of the primary system and urging a large and educated vote.

To quote Mr. Abe Hirschfield's letter, "...you holler pretty loud when corruption develops, and you wonder, how did that guy get into office?"

"Those guys" get into office fairly often when moral decisions made early in a political career are not examined closely.

It has been reported that Mr. Hirschfield or someone working on his behalf provided Alard Lowenstein with a sizeable campaign contribution. About that time, Mr. Lowenstein traded in his Senate aspirations.

I accept Mr. Hirschfield's standards, but not his performance. I urge a vote for Ramsey Clark in the Sept. 10 primary.

Movie Prices

Editor, The Freeman:

The disdain shown for family entertainment by the theatres in this area is indeed disgraceful.

All summer they have splattered the drive-in screen with garbage and trite fit only for the children of the area over seventeen. I have endured this all summer by simply not attending their showings.

When they finally did bring a children's movie to their screen, they changed their policy of not charging admission for children under twelve and charging $1.00 a piece for children.

It is sadly evident that the area theatres are not dedicated to serving the entertainment needs of our families, but are dedicated to using their monopoly on movie entertainment in this area to fill their pockets with the money of the theatre going public they show so little respect for.

Weapons sales to these countries "could henceforth be authorized after a case-by-case study," spokesman Andre Rossi said.

The change in policy was prompted when it was revealed earlier this month that Libya had loaned French-built jets to Egypt for last year's October

Libya violated the clauses of its arms accord with France and thereby made the French embargo policy irrelevant.

Egypt and Syria have been getting all their weapons from the Soviet Union but Cairo's recent improved relations with Washington has dried up the arms pipeline from Moscow.

Rossi did not say whether France has been approached by Egypt or Syria for possible weapons sales. Jordan has relied on the United States and Britain for most of its weapons.

Poll: A Tie in the 27th

By LYNN MULVANEY

BINGHAMTON
A New York City research firm which took a Republican poll of the 27th Congressional District the last week of July reports that Binghamton Mayor Alfred J. Libous and Broome County Executive Edwin L. Crawford are tied for first place for the nomination with each garnering 15.8 per cent of the vote.

Tioga County Treasurer Carl

L. Saddlemire ran next with 9.8 per cent. Binghamton lawyer Franklin B. Resseguie polled 1.9 per cent and Richard H. Knauf, former Binghamton assemblyman ran last with 0.9 per cent.

But, a whopping 55.8 per cent were undecided according to Directions Services which polled the people by telephone with the People for Ed Crawford Committee reportedly picking up the $2,500 tab. The poll was based on interviews with 424

Republican voters in the seven county district which stretches from Ulster County to Ithaca in Tompkins County.

The Crawford poll is in considerable contrast with one conducted by the Binghamton Press which polled the district in late June and July and found Libous to be leading with 17.2 per cent, Crawford, 8.9 per cent; Saddlemire, 4.7 per cent; Knauf, 1.8 per cent and Resseguie, 1.8 per cent, with 65.6 per cent undecided.

Crawford aides reportedly see their poll as an indication that their candidate has picked up strength.

Crawford's poll which was reportedly to remain private, became public after Libous said he would accept Crawford's challenge to debate on radio if he would give him a copy of the poll.

According to the pollsters, the median age of those responding was 35 with 216 females and 208 males polled. They had a median income of about $10,000. The pollsters found that GOP voters felt the most important issue at the time was the impeachment (the poll was taken the week of the televised hearings). They also named inflation, conduct of government and the economy.

As for how the incumbent Republican Congressman Howard W. Robison fared with voters, 45.8 per cent found him favorable; 7.1 per cent unfavorable; 17.5 per cent had no opinion and 29.7 per cent never hear of him.

Few minorities took part in the poll, with 95.5 per cent white, 3.5 per cent black and 19 per cent categorized as "other."

The winner of the five-man race for the GOP nomination in the Sept. 10 primary will face one of four candidates competing for the Democratic nomination for the post in this same Sept. 10 primary.

The Democratic candidates include: Robert M. Kropp, supervisor of the Town of Union, considered by many to be the front runner; former Tompkins County District Attorney Matthew McHugh, Ulster County's nominee, William Schechter of Lake Hill and Michael P. Sloan, assistant to the president of an arm of the Carnegie Foundation.

Kropp: Fair Funding

BINGHAMTON

"Before our country could begin to finance new programs it becomes necessary to plan funding that is fair and equitable to everyone," Robert M. Kropp, Democratic candidate for the nomination for Congress in the 27th District, said today.

"The burden of taxation must be distributed in such a fashion that those who pay do not feel they are shouldering the entire load. The tax system is already established, and we must endeavor to consider new alternatives to the system. Some of the alternatives have already been presented, but were lost, or left behind, prior to the passage of other tax reform bills," he said.

"One of the proposals that would have helped the man struggling to maintain his family was a Social Security tax rebate. It would allow low income workers, maintaining a household in the United States, with one or more dependent children, to receive a credit equal to a specified percentage of the combined employer-employee tax, if his income was less than $6,000. This plan was worked out to help correct the regressiveness of the Social Security tax structure. It would have also created an incentive to work, rather than receive welfare or other government benefits. I believe that this bill should be revived to provide some help to the low income person who is working or who earned the money that would be rebated under the bill. This bill could be financed through a straight eight per cent employer-employee cost for all income. The present tax is 11.7 per cent on all income up to $13,200. The eight per cent proposed would represent a decrease in cost to everyone earning $13,200 or less," Kropp said.

Another area he would consider is the expense deductions that are granted to conventions held outside the United States. He would eliminate all of these deductions that are granted for the purpose of reducing the overall cost of conventions that ultimately wind up being paid for by consumers, and for the purpose of stimulating this type of business activity in our own country.

Kropp explained that "If a retired individual collecting Social Security needs additional income to maintain his, or her household and they earn more than a specified amount of money, their Social Security pension is adjusted accordingly. To make matters even worse they must continue to make tax payments on their earnings even though they are beyond retirement age and have already qualified to collect Social Security." He said he believes that all income earned after 65 years of age should be exempted from additional Social Security taxes to allow these elderly who are still able to work, to receive the benefits from what little money they would save. He also believes that the credit against tax on retirement income should be increased.

He said he would support a drastic change by simplifying the present complex rules for determining retirement income credit. An Elderly Income Deduction of $2,000 for a single person over 65, a $3,000 deduction for a married couple over 65, or a $1,500 for a married person over 65 filing a separate return would take the place of the present law that is complex and difficult to understand. The deduction would be reduced by Social Security, or railroad retirement payments, and there would be no deduction for earned income. This would allow the elderly to earn additional money without penalty, Kropp said.

He also suggests that an income tax credit, or a deduction be given on the cost of insulating a home to save energy. Many homeowners have resisted adding new insulation to their homes because of the high cost. An income tax credit, or a deduction, on this cost would only be claimed once, and would represent a worthwhile energy saving effort.

"One of the problems of the elderly is having the ability to pay property taxes. Most of them would prefer to live in dignity, in their own home that they worked for all of their lives," Kropp said. "High taxes are forcing many of our elderly people out of their homes and into other homes for the aged, and in many cases against their will, but in the interests of their better judgment."

"A refundable credit for property taxes for the elderly would ease that burden somewhat. It would become available to taxpayers at the age of 65. I would support a credit for local property taxes up to $500 to the extent their real property taxes exceeded five per cent of their household income. There would be a maximum household income limit of $15,000. The $500 maximum would be reduced by five per cent of all household income above $15,000. This plan is good because it could also be extended to elderly renters. Fifteen percent of their rent could be treated as rent constituting taxes on real property and be eligible for the refund credit," Kropp concluded.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices sank again today in the troubled stock market.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction, and losers held a 3-2 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there was simply no stimulus in sight to shake the market out of its severe slide of the past three weeks.

They said many investors were waiting with interest, but little optimism, for President Ford's first news conference, scheduled for this afternoon. The widely accepted view on Wall Street is that there is little chance Ford or anyone else could come up with any rapid solution to the inflation problem.

proposed 10-cent per gallon more difficult for everyone to can car buyers in the past few crunch. months have been switching Ford has already announced plans to cut back output of its back to the larger models, leaving the automakers over-subcompact Pinto at its San Jose, Calif., plant. Industry analysts expect little prices start climbing again.

One thing the nation certainly does not need at this time is another artificial depressant on automobile sales," John B. Naughton, Ford vice president for marketing, said Tuesday.

The White House last week said the 10-cent a gallon increase in the excise tax was considered to generate revenue and cut fuel consumption.

Chrysler Corp. had no comment on the proposal and a General Motors spokesman said, "as we understand it, no serious consideration is being given because of its many bad features."

Naughton said higher gasoline prices would cut new car sales and hinder the company's efforts to hold down prices. "We fear an increase in the gasoline tax would have a dampening effect on car sales, set off a wave of undesirable secondary effects throughout

Union to Seek Wage Hikes

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite President Ford's hopes to jaw-bone wage and price increases, the United Transportation Union says it will seek wage hikes totaling 35 per cent in fall negotiations.

Al H. Chesser, president of the 250,000-member rail union, told a news conference on Tuesday that the group wants a 20 per cent hike in 1975 and 15 per cent more in 1976.

"Ford's request for (wage-price) restraint comes at a time that makes it most difficult," Chesser said. "We've had to live with this inflation." Chesser criticized what he called enormous corporate profits and hikes in consumer prices such as General Motors' average increase of $416 for 1975 model cars.

"If we're going to hold down the prices of consumer goods, that's something else," he said.

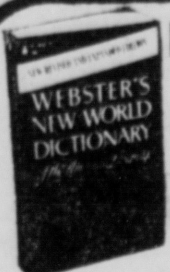

The United Transportation Union represents railroad operating personnel whose annual salaries range from $10,000 to $15,000. Negotiations on a new contract are to begin in Washington next month. The current two-year contract expires Dec. 31.

The Brotherhood of Railway, Airlines & Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express & Station Employees will seek a similar wage settlement, Chesser said. The two unions represent most U.S. rail employees.

Chesser also said the federal Department of Transportation is not properly enforcing railway safety regulations.

He warned that unless safety problems are resolved, he would not rule out strike action.

He said the two biggest safety problems facing the railroads are bad trackage and faulty tank cars.

McHugh Hits Inflation

ITHACA — Saying there are no simple solutions to the current inflation, Democratic contender for Congress in the 27th District, Matthew McHugh of Ithaca said that some basic directions toward putting us back on the road to stability are needed and he recommended that:

• Federal spending be reduced. He said that since fiscal deficits have been a prime cause of inflation, federal spending will have to be reduced.

• The budget for fiscal 1975 provides for over $100 billion in defense related areas. In a period of détente we must ask ourselves whether it is necessary to maintain 2.2 million men in arms and whether it is sound economic policy to develop a new Trident submarine at $1 billion per submarine, or a new B-1 manned bomber at $80 million per plane. We can maintain our strong posture in the world without wasting billions, and we must do so given our grave economic situation and our serious domestic needs," he said.

• Tax Reform — "Fiscal deficits also mean that there are insufficient revenues to cover spending. Tax reform is long overdue. We claim to have a progressive tax system, but our laws protect the special interests while placing the heaviest burden on the middle income American. Those in the upper brackets of our society must be made to pay their fair share," he said.

• Relief — "If we reduce our federal spending and enact meaningful tax reform, we can afford to provide relief for those suffering most from inflation. A modest tax cut would be possible. A tax credit, such as the one proposed by Walter Mondale, would be the most direct benefit to low and middle income Americans. Those on fixed incomes could have their incomes tied to the cost of living index.

• Credit — "The tight money policy of the Nixon Administration should be somewhat relaxed. It has not affected inflation and has driven up interest rates, hurt the housing industry, compounded our shortages and contributed to unemployment. Credit for low and middle income housing in particular should be more available, he said.

• Food and Fuel — "At a time when domestic food supplies are short and there is a real threat of famine in some lands beyond, we should have a policy of maximizing our food and fertilizer production.

• Controls — If the foregoing steps do not stabilize our economy and bring a measure of relief to hard pressed Americans, wage and price controls should be imposed.

Dyson Opposes Party Positions

MILLBROOK — John S. Dyson, Millbrook Democrat, recently outlined his position on one of the major issues to face the Democratic National Convention to be held in Kansas City. Dyson is a Beekman Democratic Club member.

Recently, Dyson discussed his views on the nature of the party conference to be held every two years between national conventions. Dyson stated that there were two other important issues: one, the length of the national chairperson's term of office and the other, whether the Democratic Party should have a judicial council to arbitrate internal party disputes.

Speaking about the proposed party conference, Dyson said that there are two basic opinions: the first that the conference should be mandated in the party charter, the other that the decision as to when and whether to hold a party conference should be left to the Democratic National Committee to decide. The original idea behind the party conference was to give representatives of the party as a whole a chance to come together at regular intervals in order to increase communication between various members of the party and to discuss and adopt Democratic statements of policy on various issues.

He explained that opponents of the mandated conference argue that such a decision should be left to the elected members of the National Committee because at certain times such a conference could be both very expensive and also bitterly divisive.

Dyson said he is convinced that "the wisest course for our party would be to leave the decision about whether and when to hold a national party conference to the Democratic National Committee. The dangers of wasting the party's treasury and also creating needless divisiveness are very real. They should be taken into consideration by the National committee and should not be set in concrete by the party charter.

"The party conference should discuss issues and increase communication among members of the Democratic Party. However, except where there is substantial agreement, the conference by taking a position on issues would divide the Democratic Party and put many of its candidates in the difficult position of disagreeing with the party's national dictates."

Dyson said the Democrats presently adopt a platform every four years for the presidential candidate. This is proper for one candidate, he said. "However, to add to that a platform to be adopted every two years that would apply to all candidates for federal, state and local offices would begin the dangerous process of making all of our candidates hew to a given set of positions," he continued.

Cohen Scores Ford Stand

POUGHKEEPSIE — "It is apparent to me that President Ford has no intention of doing what is necessary to curb inflation," Sanford Cohen, Free Libertarian candidate for Congress in the 25th District, said today.

Recalling that when President Ford first took office, "he admitted that inflation was caused by government and that in order to halt inflation, the government itself would have to mend its ways," Cohen said, "now the President is supporting an increased tax on gasoline of as much as 10 cents a gallon."

"Once again the American people are the victims of government-created problems. This new tax will hurt those individuals who can afford it least — the poor, those on fixed incomes and senior citizens," Cohen said.

Blaming the politicians and bureaucrats in Washington for galloping inflation "which is threatening to destroy this country," Cohen said that "instead of dealing with this latest government-created crisis honestly, the power brokers are forcing the American citizen, to sacrifice once again. You must pay for their mischief through higher gasoline taxes," he said.

Cohen suggested that in order to stop inflation, the government should cut its budget 20 per cent, reduce the supply of money in circulation and return to the gold standard.

If elected to Congress, Cohen promised "to fight to reverse the disastrous economic direction of this country."

Cohen faces incumbent Republican Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. and Democratic contender Nicholas Angell in the November election.

Nirenberg Highly Critical Of Casino Gambling Stand

ELLENVILLE resorts dot the area, each of which is physically capable of running a casino. "It would be an economic shot in the arm for all of Central New York," he said.

Nirenberg also claimed that not only would Sullivan, Ulster, Delaware, Schoharie, Otsego and Herkimer Counties benefit but so would the entire state since a natural "spillover" of tourist dollars could also be expected if casino gambling were legalized.

A former Ulster County legislator, Nirenberg challenged his opponent GOP State Sen. Edwyn E. Mason to repudiate Governor Wilson's stated opposition to gambling. "Instead of following the stale politics of Governor Wilson, Mason should demonstrate real concern for those he represents by supporting the legalization of gambling," Nirenberg said. "However, I doubt that he will do this, since it is clear from his actions that he cares little for the true needs of the people of this district."

Nirenberg noted that Mason's attitude toward Sullivan and Ulster Counties was "typical of the type of government we in New York State have come to expect from the Rockefeller and Wilsons in the last 15 years. It is an attitude that results in favors for the rich and nothing for the tax paying middle class, farmers and working people. The legalization of gambling, for example, would pour large amounts of tax dollars into our counties and would reduce the heavy burden of the property tax, which hits these groups the hardest."

"The abuses of organized crime can be controlled by proper and stiff state regulation of those who operate the casinos."

"I just don't think the State of New York can continue to try to legislate morality and I feel that forbidding casino gambling is immorality in itself by depriving the depressed resort counties of millions of tourist and tax dollars yearly, especially since New Jersey will soon have resort casino gambling," he said.

Alluding to recent reports that New Jersey will legalize casino gambling in the near future, Nirenberg noted that central New York was particularly well suited for the introduction of casino gambling since many summer, winter and year round

Malcolm Wilson's cry that revenues in an area of gambling casino gambling would invite that doesn't attract organized crime to our state is typical of his new styled "government by political hypocrisy."

Nirenberg declared, "Only recently we saw the scandal of organized crime's influence in harness racing at the Yonker's harness track. Did Wilson shut down Yonker's Raceway? Of course not! It provides major tax revenues for his home county of Westchester. He did nothing and said nothing. Yet he is willing to stop our area from getting badly needed tax revenues in an area of gambling crime as much as horse and harness racing?"

"My main questions are, When, oh when will the people of New York State see through the veil of Wilson-Mason political hypocrisy that has brought almost ruin to the taxpayers-the working people, middle class, farmers and fixed income senior citizens? When will these voters open their eyes and see and unload these politicians and political bosses? Only they can do it," Nirenberg concluded.

Dems Picnic Is Slated

Marbletown Democrats are planning their annual family picnic to be held Sunday, Sept. 22 from noon to 5 p.m. at the town recreation area on Tongore Road. The menu will include chicken, liver and onions, hamburgers and hot dogs. Committee workers include William Myers, standing, chairman of the event. Also seated, (l to r) Alfred Terwilliger, Anne Evans and Joseph LaFera who are selling tickets. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Dow Attacks Oil Politics

NEWBURGH business and monopolize the market.

Dow cautioned the the FEA that the energy crisis is causing "a panic towards development of nuclear energy reactors."

"Nuclear plants in use today will consume known uranium reserves within 20 years. They possess no proven 'fail safe' devices to prevent radiation leakages," Dow said.

"By all reports, we are headed for another fuel shortage this winter, which will be accompanied by another round of price increases," Dow said.

"The American family which receives an income under $15,000 will not be able to stand it," he said, adding that "there is a quiet feeling of outrage everywhere that our government has been unwilling to meet the needs of the ordinary citizens who consumes fuel for getting to work, heating and lighting his home," Dow said.

"This feeling is not unjustified," he said, "the greed of the oil giants is only matched by the poor planning of the federal government."

Dow also blasted the appointment of former New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller as vice president which he said "would assure that the reactionary policies of the oil industry still govern."

Vols Session

Members of the Cordts, Excelsior, Rapid and Union Hose Companies and the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company are requested to meet at Rapid Hose Company firehouse, Hone Street at 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 31 for inspection. They then will proceed to Chatham, where the Kingston volunteers will march in the firemen's parade at the Columbia County Fair.

Dow said that an investigation by the Federal Energy Administration in Rockland County showed strong evidence that the major oil companies were trying to drive the independent gas station owner out of

Mel Mones Joins Hy-Way Pharmacy

TOWN OF ULSTER
Melvin Mones, a former member of the Ulster County Legislature, has been appointed to the staff of the Hy-Way Pharmacies of Kingston, Rosendale and Stone Ridge, according to Albert DiDonna, owner.

Mones, a lifelong resident of Kingston, has established himself as a leader in many professional and community programs.

He served three terms as Kingston representative to the County Legislature following his first election in 1967. In addition to many other committee assignments, Mones held the position as chairman of the public health committee of the legislature for six years. Mones is a past president of the Kingston Rotary Club, past president of the Ulster County Pharmaceutical Society, a member of Rondout Lodge, 343, F&AM and has taken an active part in various other civic functions.

The Kingston resident served for a five-year term as commissioner of the Kingston Water Board and was elected as its president twice.

Mones resides at 101 Wilson Avenue with his wife, Rhoda, and two children, Steven, 17 and Stewart, 14.

Campbell's Labels Offer For School Equipment

CAMDEN, N.J. An opportunity for the nation's elementary schools to obtain audio-visual equipment and gymnasium and sports items in return for Campbell's labels has been announced by Campbell Soup Company under terms of an upcoming fall program.

Campbell's Labels for Education program will again be open to all public, private and parochial schools in the country with any of the grades one through six, according to Donald E. Goerke, Campbell's director of marketing for canned foods.

Last year thousands of elementary schools took advantage of the program and some 50,000 units of audio-visual equipment valued at more than one million dollars were distributed throughout the United States in return for collected labels from Campbell products.

This year the program has been expanded to include gymnasium and sports equipment, including baseballs, basketballs, tumbling mats, backboards and many other items. Slide, film, overhead and rear-screen projectors, portable cassette tape players and record players are among the audio-visual equipment being offered.

"Information on the program will be mailed to some 79,000 elementary schools in early September," Goerke said, "and will include catalogs listing the more than 100 items offered in the program."

Elementary schools participating in the program will be required to submit forms indicating the equipment they want by Oct. 14. Label collections are planned to end by Dec. 31, with labels submitted to a designated central receiving point by Jan. 15, 1975. Labels from all varieties and sizes of Campbell's familiar red-and-white condensed soups, Campbell's ready-to-serve Chunky Soups as well as Campbell's Beans products will be accepted," according to Goerke.

Campbell's Labels for Education helps answer the need for additional classroom and gym and playground equipment in elementary schools," Goerke said in announcing the program.

"The enthusiastic and gratifying comments we received from thousands of participating schools last year were instrumental in our decision not only to repeat but also expand the program," Goerke said.

In addition to the information being mailed to elementary schools in early September, details will also be available on request to elementary school administrators and educators, and P.T.A. or other parent school organizations from:

Campbell's Labels for Education, Box 669, Maple Plain, Minn. 55359.

1st Commercial Would Maintain A Separation

ALBANY
H. Newcomb Stewart Jr., executive vice president, First Commercial Banks Inc., Albany, a $1.6 billion bank holding company, urged legislators to maintain the differences in commercial and savings banks at a recent public hearing conducted by the New York State Senate Committee on Banks in Syracuse.

The hearing called by Thomas F. McGowan, chairman, to discuss the proposed New York State Financial Reform Act (A12044) which would allow savings banks to provide services traditionally handled by commercial banks only. Some New York savings banks have already introduced NOW accounts which are similar to checking accounts.

"If a mutual (savings bank) should find its place in the market no longer valid, or if it seems that it should serve markets other than its specialty and give up its unique role for certain other powers, then it should work for the enactment of 'conversion' legislation, which would allow for its conversion to a stock commercial bank — a position which we would support," Stewart said.

He called upon the legislators to proceed slowly particularly because many of the proposals are dependent upon Federal Legislation which is expected to receive Congressional attention in coming months.

"It would be unfortunate for the people of New York State and the banking industry if we were to compound our already hybrid system by enacting state legislation which may conflict with preemptory federal legislation."

Stewart stressed the unique role savings banks play by providing consumers mortgage money. This role, "should not be jeopardized by any action which would detract from their major activity."

He said that First Commercial recognizes change in the financial industry is inevitable, "but we believe it should be evolutionary, not a change thrust upon us to satisfy the special interests of certain groups."

First Commercial presently has more than 100 banking offices from the Mid-Hudson Valley to Central New York. Its affiliates include: National Commercial Bank and Trust Company, Albany, N.Y.; First Trust & Deposit Company, Syracuse; Kingston Trust Company, Kingston; Homer National Bank, Homer; FCB Leasing Ltd., Waltham, Mass., and FCB Advisory Services, Inc., Albany. Acquisition is pending for Oyster River Bank and Trust Company, Sayville, Long Island.

Douglas Switches From People to Furniture

Chem-Clean Owner Still in Restoring Line

Area Business
News

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Eugene (Richie) Douglas, at the age of 49, has switched professions, going from rehabilitating people — physical therapy — to restoring furniture.

A familiar story? — "Wall Street Banker Quits, Opens Gift Shop in Andes" — familiar, perhaps, but hardly similar.

A good number of those "middle aged switchers" are fed up with their mundane routine. They want a change.

Douglas, who now operates the Chem-Clean Furniture Restoration Center at 83 Vincent Street in the Town of Ulster, wanted a change alright, but it wasn't because he didn't like what he was doing.

Douglas, for 14 years, was a physical therapist at West Essex General Hospital in Livingston, N.J. When he left last month he was in charge of the hospital's physical therapy department.

He was doing worthwhile work which he liked and he was making a decent salary, even by suburban New Jersey standards, some $20,000 a year.

"I always liked to help people," he said. "When I got out of the service I worked in a seeing-eye program training seeing eye dogs and later I worked with people. I was in that three years but when the GI bill ran out, I had to leave. I couldn't afford it, what with the family and all."

Instead, he went to school, graduating from Phelethea College in London, Ontario, with a degree in physical therapy.

That's the first half, but he was always interested in wood and woodworking and furniture.

"Maybe it's hereditary," he says. "My great-grandfather, my grandfather and my father were all in the woodworking (cabinet making) business. I grew up in that business. My mother was a nurse. Maybe that's where the physical therapy comes from."

Douglas' grandfather built the first public telephone booths in New York City and his great-grand father did paneling on stagecoaches.

Douglas worked with his father as a youth but after service in World War 2 and Korea, went into another field. But, he never really left the family profession. "I built all the furniture in our home," he says.

Douglas got into the Chem-Clean business almost by accident. "My wife had this hutch," he said. "It was, you know, kind of beat up. I didn't have the time to work on it so I took it to this Chem-Clean place. I heard about. They did a beautiful job and I said to myself, 'Boy, would I like to get in this business.'"

Douglas contacted a franchise representative who took him on a tour of half a dozen outlets in New Jersey. He was sold. "Gee, I like that. That's for me," he recalls saying.

Douglas couldn't afford a franchise in New Jersey but the price was right on Vincent Street and he opened up for business July 26.

The Chem-Clean process differs from previous methods in that it doesn't use water — "Water and dampness are the worst enemies of good furniture," says Douglas — it preserves the natural coloration of patina, veneers, or inlays and it does not affect glued joints.

The Chem-Clean effect on a piece of old, worn, varnished furniture, when Douglas gets done with it, has to be seen to be believed.

The stripping process takes only about 20 minutes. The real work comes after that with days of drying, sanding and sealing polishing and finally two coats of clear lacquer. The whole process can take as long as three weeks, but Douglas, who shows an obvious pride in his work, insists it can't be rushed.

Douglas doesn't really have an explanation for leaving his old job — "certainly there's no comparison between restoring a person and a piece of furniture," he says — woodworking said. "That's what my dad is apparently something he just enjoyed. He'd work here for free."

Douglas and his wife Shirley live at 197 Hurley Avenue with one of their three children still at home.

The furniture restoration shop is open 9-5 weekdays and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

FIFTH SCHNEIDER'S EXPANSION — Roger Scholl, manager of Schneider's Jewelers, Inc., 290 Wall Street, steps through two-foot thick section of wall formerly separating the popular uptown jewelry store from its neighbor. Schneider's Jewelers store leased the building at 292 Wall Street and plan to use it for additional storage and selling space. This is the fifth expansion for Schneider's since 1928 and hopefully the new addition will be opened about October 1. The additional room will provide storage space of 2,000 square feet and display and selling space of some 1,000 square feet. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Statistical Picture

New Edition of Savings Bank Book

NEW YORK $1.616 at yearend 1960 and $1.040 in 1950. A detailed statistical picture of the nation's $109 billion mutual savings bank industry is presented in the expanded 1974 edition of the National Fact Book of Mutual Savings Banking, published by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

In 1973, according to the 64-page Fact Book, the holders of over 28 million accounts in mutual savings banks received a total of almost $5.3 billion in interest on their savings. The average account held $3,406 at the end of 1973, compared with $1,616 at yearend 1960 and $1,040 in 1950.

Mortgage loans held by mutual savings banks totaled $73.2 billion at the end of 1973, representing a record net increase of $5.6 billion over the year, according to the Fact Book.

Published annually, NAMS's Fact Book is the most comprehensive and up-to-date source of statistical information on the savings bank industry and its role in the nation's savings and capital markets. The NAMS Research Department has major responsibility for compiling and interpreting the data.

The 1974 edition of this important industry reference book contains more than 100 tables and charts organized into seven sections, each of which is preceded by a brief narrative interpreting the statistical data and placing it in historical perspective. Because savings banks are solely state-chartered and geographically concentrated, geographic breakdowns are often included to supplement national industry statistics.

Some Advice On Readying Gas Furnaces

ARLINGTON, VA.

During the summer, many energy-conscious homeowners took advantage of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association's suggestion for conserving fuel by turning off the pilot lights on their gas furnaces. With the approach of the heating season, these pilots will need re-lighting, however. The pilot provides safe, reliable, furnace ignition and the heat from it will contribute to the overall heating requirement of the house.

According to GAMA, some general safety practices should be observed when any gas furnace pilot is re-lit. The thermostat should be turned down to the lowest possible setting before the re-lighting procedure is begun. Once the pilot has been ignited, the thermostat can be turned up to the recommended 68 degrees.

Specific instructions for re-lighting pilots should be attached to any furnaces manufactured during the last 17 years, bearing the American Gas Association Certification seal. GAMA's president, Harry A. Paynter, emphasizes that such instructions should be carefully followed. If these instructions cannot be located, consumers should contact their local service agencies or gas utilities for information.

All furnace filters should be changed prior to the heating season also. This allows free air flow and contributes to more efficient operation and longer life of the unit.

While it is possible for the homeowner to re-light the pilot and change the filter, the furnace should be inspected by a service agency, annually.

Poet, Multi-Media Artist To Perform in Woodstock

DANIELA GIOSEFFI

Daniela Gioseffi, poet, feminist playwright and dancer, will perform at the Artist's Co-op, Gallery, Parnassus Square, Woodstock, on Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Ms. Gioseffi will perform her feminist 'birth dance', otherwise known as the 'belly dance' and speak briefly on its origins as an ancient fertility ritual. This will take place after a reading of her poetry.

Her work is widely published in little magazines, along with The Nation, Chelsea, Paris Review, Choice.

Her radio play, based on Turgenev's 'Fathers and Sons', was produced over WBAI, as well as several programs of her poetry. She created an event, 'The Brooklyn Bridge Poetry Walk', for the City of New York, and has received a New York State Council of the Arts multi-media award. Ms. Gioseffi reads extensively in colleges in and around New York.

This performance is made possible by a grant to the Woodstock Poetry Festival by the New York State Council of the Arts. Admission is free. All are welcome.

Ballet to Open Saturday at Playhouse

A new ballet, named Pastoral, and based on the music of Igor Stravinsky will be premiered at the Woodstock Playhouse Saturday night by Jacques d'Amboise, internationally famous dancer and choreographer. The performance will include Linda Ingalls and Merrill Ashley and will be part of the new program which will also include Smoke gets In Your Eyes and excerpts from other works in the very broad repertoire of these renowned stars of the New York City Ballet.

A few choice seats are still available and may be obtained by phoning the box office or mailing orders to P.O. Box 396, Woodstock, 12498.

Junior League of Kingston to Sponsor Community Conference on Voluntarism

The Kingston Junior League will host a conference on "Voluntarism — Today and Tomorrow" Thursday, Oct. 3 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Holiday Inn, Kingston.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together the leadership of the voluntary sector in Ulster County and provide a forum for discussion of major issues and opportunities for local action.

The League hopes that the conference will result in an expanded pool of volunteers in Ulster County. It would also like to see them given a greater role and a higher status in community work.

The program format will include a keynote address, a panel discussion with three panelists, a luncheon and six workshops in the afternoon. The workshops will cover such areas as: expanding the volunteer pool, motivating agencies to utilize and train volunteers, volunteer-staff relationships, volunteer to paid career, the economics of voluntarism and centers to place volunteers. All panelists and workshop leaders are noted, both locally and nationally for their experience in the various phases of voluntarism.

An organization or firm that deals with volunteers or would like to learn how it could benefit from volunteers should send one or two representatives to this conference. It is also open to individuals who are volunteer leaders or who have had volunteer experience and would like to help implement the conference goals through their own organizations and their communities.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Paul Johnson in Woodstock.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS of the Junior League of Kingston, Inc., met recently to make final arrangements for delegates and speakers for their October 3 Community Conference on Voluntarism. Keynote speaker will be Mrs. Virginia Stuart, executive director of Call For Action, Inc., a national volunteer organization operating in 45 cities in cooperation with broadcasting stations to help people who are having trouble with local bureaucracies. It is based in Washington, D. C. Members of the committee include, seated (L-R) Mrs. Paul Johnson, conference chairman; Mrs. Fritz Fiedler; Mrs. Joseph Traficanti Jr.; standing (L-R) Mrs. Theodore Peck and Mrs. Patrick Rivelli. Local Gymnasts to Appear at State Fair

Two young gymnasts of The Betty Bunce Studio, 288 Wall Street, Kingston, have been invited to appear at the New York State Super Fair, Syracuse, this weekend. Based on their performance last week at the Dutchess County Fair, Linda Maria Garrison and Debby Quick were selected for competition at State Fair.

No strangers to competition the young girls were contestants last year in pre-olympic style judging at Montclair, N.J., where Linda placed 17th among 100 contestants in tumbling. This spring, they placed ninth and 11th in aerial floor exercises and uneven parallel bars.

The Betty Bunce Dance Studio will hold its first area invitational meet for youngsters 8 to 10 years this coming winter. All area gymnastic studios will be invited to compete in the first ten-year-old and under competition ever held in this area.

'What Should I Do?'

Workshop Helps Mature Women Plan the Rest of Their Lives

By FRIEDA KAYE

Eugene, Ore. (MW) — A workshop now winding up here has proven its value in helping mature women to find new directions for their lives.

Each summer, the University of Oregon sponsors two workshops of 20 students each. Like life-planning courses in colleges throughout the country, Oregon's workshops help mature women make decisions and chart their lives for long-term personal fulfillment.

In just five days, women in the small, personalized program concentrate on what they'd like to do. Beginning on a Monday, they balance interests and skills against drawbacks and responsibilities. By Friday they make their choices and their first move.

"Make a commitment," instructor Donna McKenzie, 47, tells her workshop. The women consider all alternatives: working, going back to school, volunteering, or staying at home as a housewife. "Even deciding to make no change is a choice," explains Mrs. McKenzie. "Our focus is decision-making and implementation."

Wide Age Range

Participants are guided by workshop counselors, vocational tests, and by the other women as well. Although the official course title is "Life Planning for Mature Women," and the average age is mid-forties, some women are as young as 21 or as old as 69.

"There's a lot of inter-generational learning," instructor Fran Page, 28, points out. "Women can see from one another the consequences of making different choices. There's real value in knowing what happens when a woman chooses to stay at home with the kids for 20 years."

What does happen, according to the counselors, is that women have no direction beyond motherhood. They're also likely to have a low self-image and morale, which comes through in an exercise called "life-line." According to Fran Page, "the women draw a line representing their lives. It can be straight or curvy or whatever, and the most common line has been a low dip just before coming here. Then it turns up slightly. They're near the bottom, psychologically speaking, but they're on the way up."

"Just coming here is a first step," adds Donna McKenzie. "It takes gumption to leave your house and come to a college campus. And that's an asset."

Exploring Interests

Part of the $50 course fee goes toward vocational testing. "A few women are interested in everything and they need to concentrate on just a few areas rather than the whole world," remarks Fran Page. "But more often they haven't considered many things. We try to broaden their interests."

Hidden talents are often brought into the open. One mature housewife, who thought she'd have to go to school to learn a skill, discovered she already had a viable one. "As a homemaker she always sewed," Donna McKenzie relates. "Through our workshop she built up enough confidence to get a job as a draper's assistant. She didn't have to tackle that huge education system."

Mrs. McKenzie, a mother of five who did go back to college at 39, and Fran Page, who says her biggest decision was to end an unhappy marriage; bubble with enthusiasm about their workshop success stories. But they also warn realistically that life-plans must be flexible and have alternatives built in. "Plans must be open to change because there's new information always coming in. However, you should still have a plan," they recommend.

Laura Lee Betley Weds Joseph F. Tiano

MRS. JOSEPH FRANK TIANO
(Laura Lee Betley)
(Lakeside Studio)

The marriage of Miss Laura Lee Betley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Betley Sr., 15 Summer Street, Kingston, to Joseph Frank Tiano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tiano of Route 1, Kingston, took place Saturday, August 24. The ceremony was performed at noon in St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, by the Rev. Alfred Pizzuto.

James Sweeney was organist and wedding selections were sung by Mrs. Aleksander Narel.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white gown designed in Empire A-line style. It was enhanced with Chantilly lace motifs outlining the sheer yoke and forming a mandarin neckline. The cuffs of her semi-bishop sleeves were of matching lace and matching lace was used as vertical inserts in the skirt and on the border of the hemline. Her chapel length train was centered with lace motifs. Lace was also used to edge the mantilla and blusher veil shirred to a Juliet cap of lace. She carried a white princess basket filled with white daisies, roses and baby's breath.

Sharon Myers of 15 Harding Avenue, Kingston, was maid of honor. Her green gown was styled with halter neckline trimmed with ruffled lace, set in midriff and column skirt edged with ruffles and lace. She wore a matching picture hat and a matching jacket designed with short bell sleeves and tied with a bow. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored daisies and white baby's breath.

Attendants were Jill Becker, Joann Ketzner, Cindy Tiano and Barbara Tiano of Kingston. There gowns were identical in styling to the maid of honor's gown in blue, coral, yellow and lilac. Each girl carried a bouquet of white daisies with baby's breath to match the color of her gown. The bride's niece, Leslie Engel of Parma, Ohio, as flower girl wore a pink gown and white picture hat with pink ribbon. Her bouquet was white daisies with pink baby's breath.

Peter Fabiano of Sawkill was best man. Ushers were Ronald Drieser, Vincent Lawrence, Thomas Mannello and Marco Tiano of Kingston. George Duross of Kingston, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The reception was given at the Flamingo in Saugerties.

Mrs. Tiano was graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1972, and is employed as a secretary by Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1971, and is employed by Eveready Beverage Distributors, Inc., Saugerties.

Mr. and Mrs. Tiano will make their home at 38 Mary's Avenue, Kingston.

VanBenschoten-Porter Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Van Benschoten of 20 Austin Avenue, Saugerties, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen S., to Bruce M. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Porter of Brainardsville, N.Y.

The bride-elect, a 1971 graduate of John A. Coleman High School, is a senior majoring in mathematics at the College of Saint Rose in Albany.

Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Chateaugay Central School, Chateaugay, N.Y., is a senior majoring in mental health at North Country Community College at its extension center in Malone, N.Y.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Recent Marriage, Anniversary Reported

Mr. and Mrs. William Curtis of 2133 Houtman Road, Saugerties, announce the marriage of their daughter, Doreen B. Curtis, to Charles D. Bassett Jr., son of Charles Bassett of 110 Broadway East Apartments, Kingston. The ceremony was performed Saturday, August 17, by the Rev. August Pfau Jr., at his home on Houtman Road, Saugerties.

Attendants were Mrs.

Daniel Parham of Jamaica, L.I., sister of the bride, and James Mills of Kingston.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed in the office of Benedictine Hospital. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by IBM Kingston.

The couple will reside at 14 Hemlock Lane, Saugerties.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Van

Kleek of 291 West O'Reilly Street, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday, August 18. They were guests of honor at a dinner party at Ivan's given by their children and spouses: Mr. and Mrs. Leonard (Karen) Rider of Accord and Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Jane) VanKleek of Lake Katrine. The party included their six grandchildren: Michael, Kathy and Elaine Rider; Clayton Lynn and Steven Van Kleek; also Miss Bonnie Friedlander and Timothy Donnelly. Those attending also celebrated the sixteenth birthday of Mr. and Mrs. Van Kleek's granddaughter, Kathy. The couple received flowers, gifts, and many congratulatory messages.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(c) 1974 The Emily Post Institute, Inc. Distributed by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married quite a few years ago, and it ended in a divorce. Later, I married a wonderful man and was very happy until he passed away. Now I am going to be married for the third time. My fiancé has never been married before. I want to do the right thing by him.

Everyone seems to think it would be quite proper for us to have a reception following the wedding. I have a small son who is six. Should I include him in the wedding party? Since my parents are dead, would it be proper for my son-in-law to escort me? Thank you for your time and help.

SUSAN TAFT

Dear Mrs. Taft: Your advisors are right — it is perfectly proper for you to have a reception, as large as you wish, following the ceremony. Surely your fiancé will want to have all of his family and friends to the celebration of his first marriage. Only the ceremony should be kept simple, restricted to family and close friends.

You son-in-law may, and should, escort you, but I would suggest that your six-year-old son be there as a guest rather than a member of the party and should sit in the first pew with your older daughter, unless she is to be your attendant. In that case, another close relative should have her place of honor.

For suggestions about to whom, when, how and what to give, you will find my booklet, "Gifts and Giving," most helpful. To get a copy send 50 cents in coins to cover booklet and mailing expenses to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman.

Meat Tenderizer Is First Aid Equipment for Campers

The laughter of delight can turn into tears of grief and despair, Cecil Hoff, MD, warns in an article on "Survival" in a recent issue of Outdoor Arizona.

More than 6,000 people in the U.S. drown each year, and 90 per cent of these accidents are avoidable, he states.

Thousands of people die in automobile accidents or sustain lifelong injuries, and others may die of snake bites.

Dr. Hoff advises families to buy a first aid book and to read it. He also suggests using "a little common sense" to repel "the wild panic commonly generated in stressful situations."

In a wilderness with no hospital available, a person must rely on his own ability to survive, he cautions, but "all victims should be taken to a hospital if humanly possible."

Under the heading "first aid pointers," he states that many discomforts arise which cannot be alleviated by the contents of the traditional first aid kit. He suggests "a small ditty bag" to go with the first aid kit, and a "few things to put in it."

— Meat tenderizer which he suggests be made into a paste and applied to a hornet, bee or other stinging injury.

— Insect repellent
— An anti-diarrheal
— Tablets for nausea or dizziness — An analgesic for aches and pains — An earache product
— Nose drops
— Eye drops for inflamed eyes
— A small box Q-tips

Some tips can be carried in the head, he adds. For example, when cool spring water isn't available to make a paste of the meat tenderizer, he suggests: "Spit in the palm of your hand and stir in the tenderizer."

For immediate treatment of burns, "use ice, snow, or cold water compresses for 30 minutes to an hour."

"Be prepared to discover that the one thing you need most for some crazy thing that may happen on your camping trip is not on your list or mine," is Dr. Hoff's final, but not very reassuring comment.

DINNER AND BAZAAR — Church members are preparing for their annual roast beef dinner and bazaar which is planned for Saturday, Sept. 14.

"Catering to Weddings, Banquets and Parties"

Becoming a Senior Citizen With Style

DEAR ABBY: I identified with that woman who wrote in saying we should try to be more patient with our elderly parents.

I am trying to be patient with a mother who is at times quite exasperating. However, not all elderly people are the same. Some of Mother's contemporaries are charming and quite remarkable.

I do believe that as we grow older, we should try to keep active and interested, so that we will be interesting to others.

For many years we had my wife's grandmother living with us, and now my mother-in-law, who is nearly 80, is making her home with us.

With my vast experience in dealing with the elderly I've been meaning to make a list of things to do and not do so that I will one day be a charming senior citizen, but with my luck, my memory will probably fail, and I won't be able to find the list.

GETTING THERE
DEAR GETTING: Thanks. You've given me an idea. I think I'll compose such a list from the experience of others. My own parents weren't lucky enough to become senior citizens. And my husband's parents are in their 70s — but a more beautiful, independent and ageless couple I've never known.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's business partner, who is a fine young man of 29, recently married a 20-year-old girl. She was very promiscuous before they met, but he probably knows nothing about it as he is a newcomer to this town. Being pretty, she "swept him off his feet" and they married after a whirlwind romance.

She is pregnant, and it wouldn't surprise me one bit if her husband wasn't even the baby's father. I heard that shortly after their marriage she was seen with another man.

We must see them socially, which is very painful to us because we know about her background. My husband and I are torn between telling this best friend and business partner the truth and keeping quiet. Please tell us how to cope with the situation.

NO ADDRESS, PLEASE

DEAR NO ADDRESS: Keep quiet, of course. And don't believe everything you hear. The gossip could be entirely without foundation.

DEAR ABBY: A poor, homely type girl became impregnated by a married man who had no intention of leaving his wife and marrying her. The poor girl says it's too late for an abortion, but the father of the unborn suggested that she have the baby and let him and his wife adopt it as they were childless and desperately wanted a child.

This would have been a perfect solution to everybody's problem. But you say "no," and even have the gall to suggest that the child be handed over to an adoption agency!

How can you be so narrow-minded? Any child born under such circumstances would rather be in a home with its biological father than in a "nice" home with adopted strangers.

Are you so arrogant that you think you can play "God" with people's lives with your often biased advice? It seems to me that you need a little advice yourself.

J.C.F.
DEAR MR. F.: What assurance have you that after this unwed mother hands over the child to the man with whom she's in love (a "detail" you ignored) she will simply disappear forever?

I have received many letters from people who have been a party to such a deal, much to their regret.

If one could eliminate one factor — the natural mother's emotionalism, you would be right. But one can't.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

HISTORY COULD REPEAT ITSELF

Once there was exposure of corruption in government among government officials of high and low office....

Once there were few secret meetings of governing and regulatory bodies, and the governed had a voice in the governing.

Once these and other basic "right to know" principles were a solid foundation of the Roman Empire that was the world's most advanced and soundest up to its time.

Gradually, one by one, these basic freedoms were eroded as a wave of corruption grew in magnitude until it washed away a complete society.

NOW...more and more political groups are excluding reporters from "Open Meetings."

NOW...Courts are condemning news personnel who protect their sources thereby assuring an unimpeded flow of information.

NOW...there are many who advocate a drastic restriction or complete loss of the "people's right to know."

The similarities and parallels are frightening. Unless we, as a concerned public become involved, our improvements on the basic freedoms of past civilizations face the same vulnerability.

A Children's Choice of Potatoes

Children, as a general group, tend to like some foods and dislike others, but the potato, is one vegetable even youngsters like. It has a mild flavor that blends well with just about any other food. It can be prepared in a variety of forms that appeal to youthful tastes. Whether it's baked, mashed, fried or boiled, its appetite-satisfying goodness earns a thumbs-up rating.

It's easy, too, to give adult approval to this children's choice, because potatoes prove to be a good source of important nutrients. One medium-size potato (three per pound) provides almost half the vitamin C recommended daily for an average adult. Potatoes also contain vitamin B-1 and niacin, some iron, essential carbohydrates and high quality vegetable protein.

Kids don't care about calories, but it's nice for you to know that ounce for ounce, the potato is no more caloric than an apple.

Whether or not children like all the foods adults do, adults tend to like the foods that children find delicious. Youngsters seem to have a built-in radar for what the majority of people will find fun to eat. And the foods they like reflect a preference for similar flavors. If your child likes french fries, he'll probably like potato chips. Because young people usually enjoy Boston Baked Beans, you can make a safe guess that they'll like Boston Baked Potatoes. And, no doubt, you will, too.

As a potato sidedish which is economical (about 40 cents per serving), tasty and versatile served hot or cold, plus easy to prepare, Boston Baked Potatoes can't be beat. For extra-easy preparation you can even substitute a package of frozen potatoes for fresh ones. Either method will yield a delightfully different potato dish which will star at a picnic, buffet or on your everyday dinner table. For a more formal dinner, serve with ham or pork. For a casual meal, Boston Baked Potatoes go well with grilled hot dogs and three-bean salad.

Boston Baked Potatoes

One slice bacon, diced
One-quarter cup each vinegar, light molasses and packed brown sugar

One teaspoon each dry mustard and salt
One medium onion, chopped
Six medium potatoes (about two pounds), peeled and sliced

In large saucepan, brown bacon; drain and discard fat. In same pan, combine vinegar, molasses, brown sugar, dry mustard, salt and onion. Bring to boil. Stir in potatoes. Cover pan and simmer ten minutes. Turn potatoes and sauce into two-quart casserole. Bake at 400 degrees 40 minutes, stirring twice during baking. Serve hot or cold, accompanied by grilled hot dogs and three-bean salad.

Makes six one-half cup servings

*Or, substitute one package (two pounds) frozen small whole potatoes, sliced, for fresh potatoes.

BOSTON BAKED POTATOES, with the tangy flavor of that city's famous beans, make a meal marvelous. Hot dogs and three-bean salad round out a perfect picnic menu.

Serve Chicken ... for Goodness Sake

HOT OR COLD. Oven Chicken Royal will be a favorite on your dinner table. Complete the meal with homemade biscuits, herbed tomato halves and a flavorful squash casserole, baked along with the chicken to make the most of oven energy.

Everyone agrees that chicken tastes good. Its natural delicate flavor is further enhanced by combination with spices, herbs, fruits, vegetables and sauces, creating unlimited concoctions. Endless possibilities allow chicken to be served with a completely different flavor several times a week.

Chicken not only tastes good, but is good for you and your pocketbook. At current prices, an average serving of chicken can cost as little as 25-30 cents, less than most people spend daily at the office coffee machine. What's more, it contains more protein than an equivalent serving of round steak, rump roast, pork chops or bologna. And the protein contained is the same high quality found in red meats.

As an added health bonus, chicken ranks low in fat, cholesterol, sodium and those well-known calories.

Late summer supplies of chicken are plentiful and prices are low. So, for goodness sake serve chicken often in a variety of ways, including these two oven-easy recipes from the kitchens of Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

Oven Chicken Royal

One broiler-fryer chicken cut in serving pieces
One-quarter cup oil
One-quarter cup sour cream
One tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon celery salt

One-half teaspoon paprika
One and three-quarter cups corn flake crumbs

Mix together all ingredients except chicken and crumbs. Dip chicken pieces in cream mixture; roll in crumbs. Place in foil-lined baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until done. Makes four servings.

Chicken Italian Special

Two whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, skinned, boned, cut in one-half-inch strips

One-quarter cup oil
One medium onion, chopped
Two cloves garlic, minced
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon Italian herb seasoning

One cup small ripe olives, pitted
One can (six ounces) tomato paste
One can (15 ounces) tomato sauce

Eight ounces thin spaghetti
One cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

Heat oil in fry pan over medium heat. Sauté chicken strips, onion and garlic about 6 minutes. Add salt, herb seasoning, olives, tomato paste and tomato sauce. Mix well. Simmer 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare spaghetti according to package directions. Place drained spaghetti in greased flat baking dish.

Add chicken mixture; sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until chicken is done and cheese bubbly.

Makes six servings.

Parents Can Help Child Adjust to 1st Day in School

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The first day of school can be a frightening experience for a young child, says a nationally-known child psychologist who adds that parents can do a lot to help their children adjust to new surroundings.

"Prepare your young children by taking them to school for a few hours before the first day," advises Dr. David Elkind, professor of psychology at the University of Rochester. "Give them a chance to meet the teacher and to explore the classroom. Talk about going to school and explain what's going to happen so that your children get used to the idea."

How children react to the first day of school depends on their individual backgrounds, according to Elkind, who has written two books on adolescent psychology. "If a youngster has been to nursery school or has had considerable experience with strangers, the separation will probably not be very traumatic," he explains. "Should the child begin to cry as the parent leaves the school, it's best to let the teacher handle the situation, as most teachers are trained to deal with such problems. The best thing for the parent to do is decide to leave — and then do it."

Fortunately, Elkind notes, most children in the United States receive their first exposure to school in kindergarten, which he describes as "a buffer, or transition, between home and school." He adds, "There is not clear-cut data on when a child is ready for school," and favors a "try-it-you-might-like-it" approach.

If the child is old enough for admission to school, he says, "it's worth trying for a few weeks. The child who relates well to others and has a general use of social skills is probably ready; the one who clings to the parent and plays with toys more appropriate for a younger age level probably needs to be introduced more gradually, perhaps spending a little less time there initially." For these youngsters, Elkind suggests that some preparatory experience, such as day care, nursery school, or even being left with a baby sitter, may help children to take separation from mother in stride.

Fathers play an important role in motivating children, Elkind notes. He says, "In the case of boys, in particular, it's helpful if the father can take the child to school or visit the classroom occasionally." The UR psychologist also believes that "the more fathers read to their children, the better." He says, "Our observations have shown that early readers had this kind of experience more often than other children."

Elkind urges parents not to worry if the child doesn't plunge immediately into school activities. "It takes many children a few days or weeks to become friendly with new people and to warm up to a new situation," he says.

Once children have become comfortable at school, parents often ask what they can do to encourage them to learn. Elkind suggests that "children learn best through example. Parents who read and discuss newspapers and books, read to their children, spend time talking and playing with their children, and take them on walks and trips provide models of intellectual interest and curiosity that motivate their children to follow their example."

The University of Rochester psychologist believes more parents should take time to talk with the teacher about their child's progress. "Most parents don't do that enough," he observes.

Once the first day is past, parents may feel that the worst is over. "Not so," says Elkind. "In fact, years later, the transition to junior high school can be almost as big a change as the first day of school." Elkind's advice to parents of upcoming junior high students is similar to that for first-graders: "Talk about what's going to happen, visit the school if possible, and recognize that for some young people the transition may be rough for a while."

Going away to college resurrects many of the same problems in new forms, from loved ones is part of life, and going to school is usually the first of many such separations, not the last."

Price Situation About 'the Same'

"Prices as usual" briefly characterizes the price situation for this week, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. There is, however, an easing of the wholesale market which may show up on some sale items and possibly spread over into next week, if it holds.

For this holiday weekend, there will be a number of beef features. In the steak line, look for sirloin steak from $1.55 to $1.79, round steak from $1.41 to $1.79, cube steak from $1.49 to $1.79, London broil from $1.59 to $1.69, and chuck steak from 69 cents to $1.29, depending on cut and trim. Also featured in one area are round, rump and sirloin tip roasts at $1.49. Here and there, other roast items on special will be chuck roast from 69 cents to $1.29, eye round roast from $1.71 to $1.89, and shoulder roast from $1.71 to $1.89. Other beef items worth shopping for are frankfurters from 61 cents to $1.09, beef liver from 60 cents to 80 cents, ground beef (depending on type) from 89 cents to $1.29, short ribs in the vicinity of 85 cents, and corned beef as low as 79 cents. Some pork items at attractive prices will be semi-boneless ham from 89 cents to $1.29, smoked ham butt from 70 cents to 89 cents, smoked ham shank from 60 cents to 79 cents, and rib end roast from 79 cents to $1.19. Other pork specials making the scene are bacon from 98 cents to $1.19, spareribs at 99 cents, fresh pork shoulder at 69 cents, and sausage from 90 cents to 99 cents.

There will be a few thrifty buys on poultry — namely, broiler and fryers at 39 cents to 40 cents, cut-up for 40 cents to 45 cents. Also, in one area, roasting chickens at 60 cents, and heavy turkeys at 45 cents. Sales on lamb and veal, if any will be few and far between.

HOBART
A preliminary proposal of the Temporary Commission to Study the Catskills, which calls for collective planning, has received the support of the Castkill Center for Conservation and Development.

If, according to the plan, localities fail to choose not to meet the regional minimum performance criteria, counties will assume the power to carry out local land use planning, control and enforcement efforts.

Still resolved, according to Catskill Center Executive Director Peter R. Borrelli is the question of enforcement and the degree to which a regional body would directly regulate land uses of critical regional significance. But, Borrelli said, "This is the first time the study commission has publicly endorsed a regional approach to land use planning. It sets the course the commission can continue on, and we pledge our support in further developing such a program."

ACCORD

The Rochester Town Board has approved a $1,000 increase on the "senior citizen tax exemption" raising it to $6,000.

A public hearing will be held at the Oct. 3 meeting of the board. The legislation allows senior citizens in the town — persons over the age of 65 who own property — to receive a 50 per cent tax exemption while earning up to $6,000 a year. The $6,000 ceiling would go into effect next year.

In other action, the town board approved the expenditure of $4,060 on the low bid from Hudson River Sales Company for Torwel Sander. The new sander, which can cover both sides of the road, will be delivered by mid-October.

The board authorized the transfer of $18,181 from the general fund to the Highway Department for the Highway Department's expenses in closing down the old landfill and opening and developing the new one off Airport Road.

The Highway Department will also construct a pole barn for equipment storage at the land fill and shed for recyclable materials for Environmental Conservation Commission use.

The question of fuel bills also came up. The town signed an agreement last year with its supplier, VanDemark Oil Company that allowed for fluctuations in price. VanDemark has notified the town the price is up and town officials want justification before paying the bills.

In another matter, Town Attorney Joseph Trafficanti, has notified the owners of the Mombaccus Art Center that allowing parking off the property is illegal and that the can be served with violations if it persists.

Highway Superintendent David Clark reported complaints about the condition of the bridge on lower Granit Road were generally unwarranted but noted some repairs were necessary. They will be carried out when equipment and materials on order arrives.

There were also complaints aired on allegedly unauthorized camping on the Clove Road. The matter has been turned over to Zoning Inspector Edward Devo for investigation. He will report to the Board at its next meeting, Sept. 5.

MARLBORO

A pre-harvest twilight meeting will be held at Marlboro High School 7 p.m., Aug. 28, for area apple growers. Speakers for the program will be Dr. Darrell Good, agricultural economics department, Cornell University; Dr. C. G. Forshey, Hudson Valley Research Laboratory; Darrell Breed, Federal-State Marketing News Service, Newburgh; Dr. Robert Smock, professor emeritus, pomology department, Cornell; and Joseph Ferrara, supervising food inspector, division of food control, New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

The program is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service with offices at 74 John Street, Kingston.

Recently the center, a non-profit citizens group, issued a detailed 68-page document called "The Catskill Center Plan" containing more than 50 recommendations pertaining to land use planning and environmental management in the Catskills. The report calls upon every town and village to adopt a land use plan within a reasonable period of time for approval or disapproval. In the event a locality will not comply with the standards and time schedule of the regional body, the county should be required to prepare the locality's plan. Any locality in non-compliance should be enjoined from authorizing any major development until such time as the plan is adopted and approved, he said.

In explaining the center's plan, Borrelli says, "Effective local planning is the key to rational development and conservation in the Catskills. But without regional cooperation and coordination, the efforts of individual communities will be gradually undermined by economic, social and political forces beyond their control."

Dr. Sherret S. Chase of Ashokan, president of the center, told members of the staff of the state commission, the center and Ontario Club at a meeting in Tannersville plimentary; for local planning alone cannot deal with regional mission's proposal is a great issues effectively. The failure to step forward. The future well-do so could spell disaster for the Catskills," he the localities and thus, over added, "depends on our ability time, for the region. We need a to act collectively in planning declaration of interdependence for a better tomorrow. Regional as the way to maximize the center and Ontario Club at and local planning should, an interest of the individual," he concluded.

Citizens' Group Critical of Reactor Study

HIGHLAND engaging in a little probability study took place at AEC headquarters, and that the head judgments are such an integral part of a study, the bias of the study, Dr. Norman Rasmussen, is an "active" investigator must be taken into account. The CCOH charges that the study was not "independent," with large-size reactors, and the lack of testing of the emergency core cooling system, the CCOH report was paid for with $3 million of AEC money, it was said. Peyser Believes Helping Farmer Aids Consumer

By WADE BURKHART

Rep. Peter Peyser (R-23 including the Bronx and Westchester), a self-termed "consumer advocate" on the House Agriculture Committee, had found issues where the interests of the farmer and the consumer intertwined at the close of his three-day tour of agriculture in the Ulster-Sullivan-Orange County area, which ended Tuesday.

family had stayed during the tour, Peyser called his farm "very educational" and said what he had been most impressed with was the "distress" of the many growers of a wide variety of crops, that he had found that dairymen, poultrymen, growers of fruits and vegetables, had all been hit hard by inflation in the price of farm inputs like baling wire, twine, packaging products, and feed.

well. He said imports, particularly dairy products, should be made to conform to the same standards demanded of domestic products. He also said that he was going to look into the practice of major food chains of buying a major portion of their vegetables from such places as California, when lower cost and better quality vegetables might be available locally.

get "a better price and a better product." Peyser is very much against exporting grains when there is a shortfall at home, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) says there is going to be a shortfall at home this year. The congressman held a question and answer session with Tamarack guests Tuesday night, and said the USDA was "dead wrong" in its export plans, with 600 million bushels of corn already exported, and another 900 million slated to go, when a 400 million bushel shortfall in corn is project for the U.S. He said the shortage of corn was going to affect all farming involving feed, and that beginning in October the already high prices of beef and poultry were going to be "considerably higher." In the interview, Peyser said he was going to talk to the Farmers Home Administration about extending the due date for loans to farmers due this year. Peyser's farm tour ended Tuesday with tours of both dairy and poultry farms in Sullivan County, and an afternoon in the "black dirt" farm section of Orange County with Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26). Peyser has been invited to the State Fair in Syracuse by Gov. Malcolm Wilson, and was scheduled to go there today.

Peyser's district takes in part of the Bronx and sections of Westchester County, and it lacks farmers but has plenty of consumers, but the congressman said he regards all of New York State agriculture as a "new constituency" for him.

HOME ARTICLE BOOTH — One of the big features at the St. Peter's Church of Rosendale annual bazaar, Aug. 31 to Sept. 1 will be the home article booth with its home baked bread, cakes, pies and produce plus quilts, toys, antiques, flowers and books. Planning the event are (L) Mary Beatovic, Lottie Burns, Helen Banach, chairman; the Rev. Gerard Bliss and Anne Schwedner. The all day sale begins at 10 a. m. on the church grounds. Benefit for Area School ROSENDALE — The annual bazaar of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale will be held this weekend and the Rev. Gerard Bliss, pastor says "it may be the most important one we've ever had."

Proceeds of the bazaar are traditionally used to help defray costs of the parish school. Although teaching sisters will staff the school this year, rising costs of heating and lighting have dissolved any anticipated savings.

A low key campaign to solicit funds in the parish was carried out during the month of August. The annual bazaar will be a symbolic measure of support of the parish programs, Father Bliss said.

The bazaar will open 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 31 with a food sale and home articles booth administered by Helen Banach and Lottie Burns. Other booths will open at 6 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

A variety of attractions are planned under the direction of Marge Dalton, Enrico Formica, Helen and Robert Norton, Mary McNamara, James Capion, Mr. and Mrs. John Maschino, Peter Benincasa.

Also Carl Mihm, Eugene Dmoch, Richard Savino, Addie Hassett, James Fahy, Joseph LaFera, Lou Muenkel, Frank Cornell and James Gottstine. Assisting at the game booths will be William Ferry, Frank Negro, Warren Prandoni, Joseph Hassett, Attilio Contini, Frank Klepeis and William St. Clair.

There will be kiddie rides, food and refreshments as well as awards.

Scholarship Grants Will Go to Scouts

KINGSTON National scholarship awards will go to winners of the 1975 Reader's Digest Association Boy Scouts of America National Public Speaking Contest, according to Robert M. Browning Jr., Kingston, Scout Executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

With the theme, "Be Prepared for Life," Scouts and Explorers in this area will compete on a council basis in September.

The winning Scout and Explorer from the Rip Van Winkle Council will compete in a regional contest in October. The Scouts and Explorers who win the public speaking contest in the six regions will travel to the national office of the Boy Scouts of America to compete in the semifinals and the finals in February 1975.

Twelve scholarship awards will be presented with the first-place scout and explorer receive attractive trophies, and certificates will be presented to all participants.

The "Be Prepared for Life" theme ties in with the program emphasis of the Boy Scouts of America for the year beginning in September 1974 and carrying through August 1975.

The Rip Van Winkle Council serves youth in communities throughout Greene and Ulster Counties.

Busy, Productive Summer For Hurley Troop 20

HURLEY an active week of hiking, camping, and swimming. The Troop came home with a total of 45 merit badges and 9 advancements in rank. Two Scouts, Tim Foster and Steve Benz, along with Assistant Scoutmaster Mark Riseley, were inducted into the Order of the Arrow.

Troop 20's coming plans for the fall include regular meetings every Tuesday night, swim meetings once a month, camp-outs or Troop trips once a month, and a Family Day barbecue and Court of Honor Sept. 14. The regular meetings will begin Sept. 3, at the Hurley Firehouse, at 7 p.m. All young men who have graduated the 5th Grade, or are 11 years of age, are welcome to join the Troop. Any adults who would like to assist in bringing the Scouting experience to these young men are also invited to join.

Information about Troop 20 may be obtained by calling Scoutmaster Douglas Whitaker or by writing to the Scoutmaster, Troop 20, Hurley, 12443.

Bicycle Safety Month

Den 3 of Pack 13 held two outings recently in observance of Bicycle Safety Month.

Cubs and leaders visited the Potter Brothers bicycle shop to learn about the care and maintenance. Cubs attending included Roddy Adams, Sean Feeney, Tim Feeney, Arthur Flora, Bobby Peterson and Darren Playford. Mrs. Sue Androm and Mrs. Helen Peterson accompanied the group.

Members also spent an enjoyable Saturday bicycling at the Hidden Valley Recreation Center.

Onteora District to Have Free School Lunch Policy

BOICEVILLE
Onteora Central School today announced its policy for free and reduced price lunches for children unable to pay the full price of lunches served under the National School Lunch program.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility: (1) Free lunches — one, $2910; two, $3830; three, $4740; four, $5640; five, $6480; six, $7310; seven, $8060; eight, $8810; nine, $9510; ten, $10190; each additional member $670. (2) Reduced-price lunches — one, $4080; two, $5360; three, $6630; four, $7900; five, $9070; six, $10240; seven, $11290; eight, $12340; nine, $13320; ten, $14260; each additional member $940.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-price lunches. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of the income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses may apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

During the opening week of school before applications for the new school year are received and approved, free lunches will be served to children from families with approved applications on file from the previous school year. Under the provisions of the policy the business administrator will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling, he may make a request of Dr. Frank M. Marlow, Onteora School, Boiceville for a hearing to appeal the decision.

Sept. 4 Opening Slated

BOICEVILLE
Dr. Frank M. Marlow, Superintendent of the Onteora Central School District, has announced the reopening of all district schools on Wednesday, Sept. 4th.

The Superintendent also indicated that a special orientation program for 7th grade students at the Onteora Junior High School will again be given. This orientation program will be held at the Onteora Junior High School on Tuesday, Sept. 3 at 10 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. District wide transportation will be provided.

For the fourth consecutive year, a kindergarten orientation for the A.M. and P.M. kindergarten children and their parents will be conducted in each of the district's elementary schools on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 3. A.M. kindergarten children and their parents will arrive at school at 2 p.m. while P.M. kindergarten children and their parents will arrive at 2:30 p.m. District-wide transportation will be provided for each kindergarten child and a parent. Parents having questions regarding times should contact their elementary principal.

Student bus lists, starting times, bus stops and routes will be posted in the Post Office and stores throughout the district Wednesday, Aug. 28. Any parent or student having a question regarding transportation may call Carlton E. Buley during school office hours. All buses will operate on regular schedule Wednesday, Sept. 4.

'Cooling Off' Period Fails

Contract Talks Stalled

CHICAGO (AP) — In football terms, the cooling-off period moved into overtime today, the latest proposal by the owners to end the National Football League Players Association strike was tackled hard at the line of scrimmage and there's a time out in the negotiations.

By a 25-1 vote Tuesday night, the NFLPA strongly rejected the owners' newest offer, but the players will remain in their training camps as the 14-day cooling off period has been indefinitely extended.

"We gambled the 14-day period would work. It didn't," Ed Garvey, executive director of the players union, told a press conference early today. "We wanted a good faith offer, but they did not make the effort. This offer is hardly what we consider a good faith offer."

The negotiations have been recessed. Bill Curry, union president, said, "It's been decided for the players to remain in camp and continue without an agreement."

Neither Garvey nor Curry, who announced the near-unanimous rejection, said which representative from the 26 NFL teams cast the dissenting vote.

The negotiations have been called off and when the owners come up with a substantial offer, we'll go back," Garvey said. "We intend to remain flexible and we'll play it by ear. No, they didn't break the union. We feel it is stronger than ever."

W.J. Usery Jr., head of the federal mediation team, was saddened that the 14-day cooling off period, which was his suggestion to the union, did not foster an agreement.

"I have encouraged both sides to play the season," Usery said. "I don't plan to call them back into negotiations in the near future — by that I mean the next few days."

A modification of the owners stance on the Rozelle rule was an important part of the new package delivered by the Management Council, bargaining unit for the 26 club owners.

The players' union had withdrawn its demands for abolition of the Rozelle rule earlier, saying it should be left up to the courts to decide.

Thompson said, however, that action was not viewed as "a concession on their part... we are determined to resolve the Rozelle rule at the bargaining table."

The four-year contract proposed by management also included modifications of the option and waiver rules, an increase in the minimum salary level to $18,000 for veterans and $15,000 for rookies, plus a total of $25 million over the life of the agreement to pay for pensions and insurance. This is an increase of $5.9 million over the four-year commitment made in 1970.

It's Sun and Storm on Coast

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The law of averages is on one side and the laws of logic on the other as the Portland Storm sweeps down the coast to play the California Sun in a meeting between the Western Division's last and first place teams.

The Storm and the Sun are as divergent as the weather patterns they were named for. Portland's season has been a torrential downpour of six losses and one tie, while California has a bright 4-3 record, 11½ games ahead of runner-up Houston.

But form in football is about as dependable as weather predicting, so California Coach Tom Fears is wary.

"Any team is overdue when they haven't won," said Fears. "You never know when they might strike."

Portland Coach Dick Coury thinks the Storm's lightning will strike for the first time tonight.

"It will take our best effort of the season if we're going to beat the Sun," Coury said. "And I think we're ready for that after the Florida game."

Last week, the Storm dropped an 11-7 heart-breaker to the tough Florida Blazers, while California notched its second straight victory.

The California-Portland match-up is one of four World Football League games on tap tonight as the rookie league moves into its eighth week of play.

The rest of the schedule has the New York Stars meeting the Texans in the Houston Astrodome; the Florida Blazers hosting the Memphis Southmen; and the Detroit Wheels invading Philadelphia to play the Bell.

In Thursday night's nationally televised game, undisputed possession of first place in the Central Division is at stake when the Chicago Fire, 6-1, entertain the Birmingham Americans, 7-0.

The Texans, 2-4-1, saw lots of Stars last week while absorbing a 43-10 knockout from New York.

chopped eight players from his starting lineup, including the team's leading rusher Jim Nance.

The Stars, 5-2, lead the league in rushing and, after five straight victories, trail Florida by one game in the Eastern Division.

The Blazers, 6-1, ranked No. 1 in over-all defense, are adding some new wrinkles to their offense with the activation of two wide receivers — Hubie

Bryant, a former Pittsburgh

Steelers, and Gary Collins, an

All-Pro performer with the Cleveland Browns.

"Our whole passing game has changed now," said Florida

Coach Jack Pardee. "We should be throwing the ball more effectively now."

The Southmen, 5-2, relying on the running game of J.J. Jen-

Their views on winning the event, however, differ greatly.

Tutwiler, who lost to Camp-harder and harder for me to get up and want to play."

But Campbell, who played 25

Penn State Faces Major Rebuilding Test

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — This could be the year that Penn State is unseated as kingpin of college football in the East. But don't bet your weekly paycheck on it.

Penn State, which finished with its best record ever last season (12-0), faces a major rebuilding job with the loss of 13 starters from last year's squad. But when they talk about rebuilding at a school like Penn State, it is not meant in the same context as rebuilding at a school like Rutgers, for example.

Two years ago Penn State was supposed to be in a rebuilding year, and all coach Joe Paterno's team did that season was win 10 of 12 games. Still, Paterno approaches this season with extreme caution.

"We are not going to be anywhere close to being as good as we were last year," says Paterno. "It should be an interesting year. We aren't going to dominate or overpower anybody. We are going to have to work hard to be competitive."

There's little doubt the Nittany Lions have been hit hard by graduation. Gone from last year's squad are the likes of Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, offensive guard Mark Markovich, offensive tackle Charlie Getty, linebacker Ed O'Neil and All-America defensive tackle Randy Crowder.

The Lions, however, appear to have enough talent returning to make a strong run at a fourth consecutive Lambert Trophy.

For openers they have an experienced quarterback in Tom Shuman and one of the top tight ends in the nation in Dan Natale. Wait Addie, a 6-foot-2, 200-pound senior, shows promise as Cappelletti's replacement and Paterno has enough talent on hand to fill the voids on the offensive line.

Even on defense, where the Lions lost two starting linebackers and two defensive backs through graduation, things don't look too bad. Chris Devlin, one of the best outside linebackers in college football, returns; Jim Bradley, the team captain, is a standout defensive back and both ends, Dave Graf and Greg Murphy, are back.

So, don't feel any pity for Joe Paterno.

The major challengers to Penn State appear to be

Pittsburgh, which recorded its first winning season in 17 years in 1973, has 32 lettermen back, including sophomore Tony Dorsett, who shattered the myth that freshman can't play varsity football last season when he rushed for 1,586 yards.

The Panthers also return the remainder of their starting offensive backfield and their entire defensive secondary. Says second-year coach Johnny Majors, "It's not going to be easy, but we anticipate improvement over last season."

West Virginia was hampered by inconsistency and inexperience a year ago but still managed a 6-5 record. With 17 starters returning Coach Bob Bowden anticipates improvement. The Mountaineers might just have the most exciting player in the nation in flanker and kick return specialist, Denny "Lightning" Buggs.

Temple, with 32 lettermen returning, could be the surprise team in the East. The Owls finished 9-1 last year and will take an eight-game winning streak into the 1974 season. Included among the returnees is Steve Joachim, whom Coach Wayne Hardin calls "the best quarterback in the United States."

New coaches will be debuting at three of the East's more well-known institutions — Syracuse, Army and Villanova — and all three will be on somewhat of a spot. Frank Maloney replaces the legendary Ben Schwartzwalder at Syracuse. Homer Smith takes over for the popular Tom Cahill at the most scored upon since 1893.

Army, which will incorporate a new system, has 27 lettermen returning and should better last year's record (0-10) in its first game (against Lafayette).

Maloney, who was an assistant at Michigan where winning is the norm, is hoping for an immediate winner at Syracuse, but it won't be easy. Last year's Orange squad was the lowest scoring since 1948 and returns 11 starters.

Army, which will incorporate a new system, has 27 lettermen returning and should better last year's record (0-10) in its first game (against Lafayette).

Mary Beth Pechloff

More Swimming Laurels For Mary Beth Pechloff

KINGSTON

Mary Beth Pechloff, the 14-year-old swimming great of Stone Dock Swim Club, continued her climb to the top among world class swimmers as she recently completed in the National AAU Senior Swimming Championships at Concord, California.

Competing against 151 swimmers in her event, the 100-meter butterfly, the pretty, blonde, blue-eyed star took first place in her heat with an excellent 1:06.0 to place 35th overall. This time would have placed her eighth in last year's event, as the eight place time in 1973 was 1:06.439.

Mary Beth's time nonetheless was only .8 of a second away from making the consolation finals this year (top 16). It took a 1:05.2 to qualify for the consolation finals.

"Mary Beth is a very determined swimmer," says her coach Art Stockin of Stone Dock Swim Club. "Despite the phenomenal time drops all over the world," he added, "she must now definitely be recognized as one of the country's best and very definitely a potential finalist in the indoor and outdoor championships in the near future."

SLL "C" Division Flag To Eveready Beverages

Eveready Beverages left no doubts about the Saugerties Softball League's C Division pennant. In the title game, the Beveragers whopped Rosner's Oasis in a five-inning stopper, 14-4 behind a four-hitter by Joe Gavner.

A seven-run outburst in the home fifth closed out the contest as Tom Silk, Jim Farrell, Frank Paquin and Dick Kulikowski powered the attack. Paquin slammed his fourth homer of the season in the second to overcome Rosner's early two-run lead, then Eveready added four more in the frame to take command for keeps.

Farrell cracked a double and two singles. Silk, the league's home run champ with six, drove in four runs on two hits, and Kulikowski belted a triple and a single.

Eveready finished the regular season in first place with a 10-4 record. Rosner's was next at 9-5, then came Pepperidge Farm and Mark IV Printing, both at 8-5. Gunjah Warriors at 3-10, and Spert's Pakkers at 2-11.

Silk led teammates Ray Scally (5) and Paquin in the homer derby; Scally paced the loop in RBI's with 24, while Steve Thornton of Pepperidge Farm had 17, and Mike Abate of Mark IV and Silk totalled 16 each. The leading batters were Vic Tummillo of Rosner's, .588, Abate, .586, Art Spert Jr. of the Pakkers, .576, Paul Bernard of the Printers, .568, and Arnie Hackett of Rosner's, .546.

Joe Gavner's 9-1 record was tops among the pitchers. Pepperidge's Bill Maines was 6-2. Les Hauck of the Printers was 6-3, and Al Scott was 9-5.

The linescore:
Rosner's Oasis 110 11-4
Eveready Beverages 061 07-14

Stone Dock Captures Adirondack Swim Title

HIGH FALLS points. Schenectady Swim Club The fast rising Stone Dock was runnerup with 320 points, followed by Delmar 252 and Watertown 226. Stone Dock was champion in the 1974 Adirondack District Swimming and Diving Championships at Delmar last weekend. A total of 19 meet records were set by Stone Dock swimmers in the three-day meet which covered 82 events.

The Stone Dock club amassed $49.5 total points to accomplish a four year goal—the Adirondack District champions. Delmar Dolphins were a distant second with 742 points and Watertown Y third with 525.

The Ulster county team won the overall Girls Title with 510 Stone Dock club total to 15.

This year's champions: Senior Girls — Anne St. Denis, 200 meter back, 100 fly, 400 individual medley; Lisa Sutter, 1500 meter free, 400 free, Girls 13-14 — Mary Beth Pechloff, 100, 200 meter free, 100 fly, 400 individual medley; Barbara Buck, 400 meter free, Girls 11-12 — Donna Durkin, 100 meter back, 200, 400 meter free, 100 fly, 200 IM.

Boys 11-12 — Kevin McCormick, 100 free; Grant Wood, 200, 400 meter free, 100 fly, 200 IM.

Senior Boys — 100 meter free, 200 breast.

Past District champions include Kathy Russell, Crawford Brown, Meg Davenport, Dwight Davenport, Chris Davenport and Eileen Sullivan. Maureen Begley suffered a disheartening setback as she captured the 200 meter breaststroke in meet record time of 3:03.3 only to be disqualified for an illegal turn.

The 19 meet records were: Mary Beth Pechloff (13-14) — 200 IM, 2:39.5; 100 free, 1:06.8; 200 free, 2:27.0; 100 fly, 1:07.4; 100 back, 1:13.3.

Anne St. Denis (Senior Girls) — 200 back, 2:40.1; 100 fly, 1:11.1; 400 IM, 5:45.2.

Lisa Sutter (Senior Girls) — 400 free, 5:04.5.

Bobby Winrow (Senior Boys) — 200 breast, 2:50.8.

Grant Wood (11-12), 400 free, 5:22.6.

Donna Durkin (11-12) — 100 back, 1:26.0.

13-14 Girls 400 Medley Relay — Barbara Buck, Kevin McCormick, Mary Beth Pechloff, S. Fraser, 5:21.5; also 400 meter free relay, 4:54.4.

11-12 Boys — 400 medley relay, J. Hickey, B. Clark, S. Wood, Kevin McCormick, 5:50.0; also 400 free relay, 5:03.5.

Senior Girls — 400 free relay, 4:33.1, Anne St. Denis, Sue Helmrich, P. Durkin, Lisa Sutter.

Stone Dock swim coach Art Stockin was highly pleased with his team's performance. "This was a very happy and gratifying experience for all of us," he said. "The kids worked extremely hard for four months and wanted to win this one very badly. They sacrificed many things this summer but I am sure that this is the only way they would have had it."

"It was a total team effort, parents, friends and swimmers," he added. "We are grateful to all of those who have made this dream a reality. This has got to be one of the high spots in my life in athletics."

25 Contests for UCCC Cagers

STONE RIDGE New Jersey. Aside from facing its regular Mid-Hudson Conference and Region XV foes, Ulster will also participate in a Christmas Tournament in Union, N.J., and will open the season at home against Essex Community College, the team which holds the single game

NJCAA scoring record of 210 points.

Returning veterans from last year's 13-11 squad include forward Carl Mabry and guards Tim Terbusch, Lloyd Abraham and Chris Cummings.

The Senators open on the road against Essex in Newark N.J., on Nov. 30. The first home contest will be against Orange CC on Dec. 13 after a five-game road trip. The schedule also ends away from home with Ulster facing Post Jr. College on Feb. 25, 1975. The Region XV tournament is slated for the 27th and 28th of that month at a site to be announced.

SUMMER PROGRAM SUCCESS — Mayor Francis R. Koenig (R) beams approval of Kingston's Rent-a-Kid Program which has been declared a huge success. Sharing his enthusiasm is Roger Vogt Jr., program director. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Rent-a-Kid Working

KINGSTON
More than 85 Kingston teenagers have found work this summer as the result of the Kingston Rent-a-Kid Program sponsored by a number of area businesses and organizations.

Rent-a-Kids are handy household helpers willing to paint, clean up, mow, houseclean, baby-sit and do other odd jobs at reasonable rates. Area homeowners who have taken advantage of the work saved have been very pleased and generally call again and again, according to Roger Vogt Jr., program director.

Residents are still invited to take advantage of the program which will continue through Labor Day. Homeowners requesting teenage workers may win a free dinner for two at The Beef House, 765 Broadway.

Sponsors include Kingston Area Financial Council, Kingston Kiwanis Club, Kingston Lions Club, Yallums, Pronto Printer, The Daily Freeman, Garraghan Oil Company, London's Colonial Roofing and Lou's Astro Subs.

GENERAL REVENUE SHARING

General Revenue Sharing provides federal funds directly to local and state governments. Your government must publish this report advising you how these funds have been used or obligated during the year from July 1, 1973, thru June 30, 1974. This is to inform you of your government's priorities and to encourage your participation in decisions on how future funds should be spent.

a complete application (No. NY 002157) from the Town of Ulster (the applicant) for a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit to discharge pollutants into navigable waters under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (the Act) (33 U.S.C. Code §1251-1276).

The applicant provides primary treatment and chlorination for an average daily flow of 0.02 MGD at the Whittier Sewer District located on Ulster Landing Road in Ulster, New York. The average daily design flow of the facility is 0.1 MGD. Treatment consists of primary sedimentation followed by continuous chlorination.

The Region II staff of EPA has tentatively determined to issue a permit to the applicant subject to certain effluent limitations and other conditions necessary to carry out the provisions of the Act. Interested persons may submit written comments on the tentative determination to the Regional Administrator at the above address no later than Sept. 30, 1974. The period for submitting comments may be extended if the public interest warrants.

A copy of the draft NPDES permit and other available information may be obtained by mail from the Regional Administrator, Branch, EPA, Region II, at the above address, or by calling (212) 264-9881, or in person between 8:00 A.M. and 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday. Other forms and relevant documents may be inspected at said office. Copies will be provided at a charge of $20 per copy sheet.

In lieu of or in addition to the submission of comments as above provided, any interested person may request that the Regional Administrator hold a hearing to consider the permit application and the tentative determination of the Region II staff of EPA. Any request for a hearing must be submitted to the Regional Administrator at the above address no later than Sept. 30, 1974. The period for submitting comments may be extended if the public interest warrants.

PUBLIC NOTICE
STATE OF NEW YORK
PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION
CASE 26368
On a motion of the Commission with respect to the long-range electric plans filed by the New York Power Pool and the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation, the Commission, on September 12, 1974, will hold a public hearing on the long-range electric system filed by the Public Service Commission, April 1, 1974, by the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation, New York, New York. The Commission expects to follow the following approximate schedule:

10:00 a.m.-11:30 a.m.—The New York Power Pool will address the need for additional power capacity and the physical planning for generation and transmission facilities.
11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.—Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc.
12:30 p.m.-1:30 p.m.—Lunch recess
1:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m.—A panel of executives from the Pool and each of its member corporations will answer questions.
3:30 p.m.—Oral comments from the public.
September 12, 1974

10:00 a.m.-11:30 a.m.—The Pool will make a presentation concerning research and development and will answer questions.
11:00 a.m.—Oral comments from the public. Written comments on the long-range plans may be submitted to Samuel R. Madison, Secretary of the Public Service Commission, 44 Holland Avenue, Albany, New York 12208, any time prior to October 11, 1974. Persons wishing to make oral comments at the public hearings, including oral comments to supplement or amplify written comments, should notify the Secretary prior to the hearing dates. Within the time available for public comments, priority will be given to those who have requested to limit oral comment to ten minutes.

Questioning of representatives of the various electric corporations at the public hearing will be conducted primarily by members of the Commission. Cross-examination, if necessary, will be limited to matters of fact, and questions of a clarifying nature may be addressed to the panel of utility experts.

Members of the public in the alternative, members of the public may submit proposed questions to the Public Staff Counsel, Public Service Commission, 44 Holland Avenue, Albany, New York 12208 (518-474-5350). It is requested that questions be received by September 13, 1974. Persons desiring further information or assistance should also contact Mr. Bruden.

Because of the general informational nature of these proceedings, the Commission does not deem it appropriate to pursue, in depth, inquiry into particular sites or generating facilities or specific routes for transmission lines. Rather, the parties should address their comments to the assumptions underlying the subject presentation, including such aspects as the following:

(1) adequacy of the data;
(2) demand forecasts;
(3) adequacy of supply;
(4) generating mix;
(5) adequacy of planned transmission grid;
(6) the reasonableness of the assumptions underlying the various projections;
(7) the format of the presentation; and
(8) research needs and priorities.

Five Persons Die in Fire

LYNN, Mass. (UPD) — Five persons died early today in a fire in a downtown rooming house. Five firemen were treated for smoke inhalation and five hotel occupants were hospitalized.

At least 25 others were rescued from the Oxford Hotel, many taken from the building by ladder.

Fire Chief Joseph E. Scanlon said the fire started on the third floor. Its cause was not immediately known but Scanlon ruled out arson.

The dead were identified as Hilda McDonough and Stewart McLean, who both lived on the third floor; Ernest DeRosier and Jean Battles, who lived on the second floor; and Michelle Peletier, a woman visitor who jumped from a third or fourth floor window.

Mrs. Peletier died in Lynn Hospital. The others were dead at the scene.

The fire, reported about midnight, spread quickly through the four-story wood and brick building.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your guidance will get things on course. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Conditions are generally favorable for any bargaining or deals you have to make now. Later, influences are less friendly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Even though the goal is personal to you, you'll be surprised how much support from others you'll get to help you reach it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something interesting and pleasant you didn't figure on will come from a social encounter. Accept any invitations you get at present.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Take a more active role in a situation where you share an interest with one close to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There are special premiums attached to any work or service you do at the present. Concentrate where you can do the greatest personal good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take a chance on your own ideas before you do on those of another. Your thoughts will prove to be the wiser.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Let your natural sense of timing come into play if you're doing any delicate negotiating.

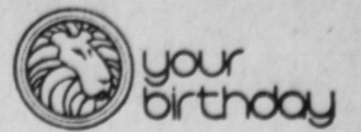

Press for your points when your intuition directs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have a naturally curious mind. Don't be hesitant about asking in-depth questions regarding something new you're undertaking but don't fully understand.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There are two promising areas at present that could mean something to you financially. One is at work. The other is confidential.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This will be the kind of day you'll like. You can do things your own way. If you don't, you've only yourself to blame.

Yesterday we said that you definitely should not open one spade with four cards each in spades and clubs. Our general rule for other hands with two four-card suits is when you hold four diamonds and four clubs to open one club; with four hearts and four diamonds to open a diamond, unless your clubs and either major to open one club and wish spades and hearts to open one heart.

In addition we also open three-card club suits with hands like today's. We do hold four cards each in spades and hearts but have no interest in either suit unless our partner can produce four cards there.

It is fairly easy to arrive at four hearts after the club opening. It is even easier to get there after a one-heart opening by North, but any four-card major would open the North hand with one spade. The heart suit just might be missed as the bidding went forward.

Not that the heart suit should be missed. Any two bidders should reach that heart game on any system and would wind up losing two diamonds and one heart. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A monsoon is a seasonal wind. Derived from the Arabic for season, the word was first applied to winds which blow for six months from the northeast and six from the southwest across the Arabian Sea. It has since been extended to similar seasonal winds in other parts of the world. The World Almanac says. They are strongest along the southern and eastern shores of Asia.

Saxbe Discusses National Police Force

CHICAGO (UPI) — The nation's skyrocketing crime rate may force the nation to create a national police force in a final effort to restore domestic order, Attorney General William B. Saxbe has warned.

"As other countries have learned, a police state can control common crime," Saxbe told a conference of law enforcement administrators Tuesday. "But that is not our way. And it would be a dreadful mistake to slide inch-by-inch toward that chasm, centralizing the war on crime in the name of efficiency while meekly accepting a national constabulary."

But, he warned, the nation could find itself inundated by crime.

"The nation would then be faced with the prospect of failing apart or devising a national police force in one final effort to restore domestic order," he said.

Statistics, he said, indicate that crime increased by 6 per cent during 1973 and by 15 per cent in the first three months of this year.

"The nation is in deep trouble in its effort to reduce crime," Saxbe said.

Poverty and deprivation, pervasiveness, lack of parental discipline, alcoholism, pornography and violence on television all have contributed to climbing crime rates, Saxbe said.

He said criminals increasingly are being portrayed as heroes and killers and rapists now are often looked upon as "political victims."

Cases of governmental corruption have been appalling, he said.

"The list of state and local officials convicted of federal crimes — usually for violating their public trust for an illegal buck — is scandalously long," he said.

The answer to the problem, Saxbe said, lies in restoring the "inner strength" of the people and their institutions.

"It is partly the job of every citizen, of every institution, of every business, because if they fail, then our system of criminal justice simply will be unable to hold back the tide," he said.

Nixon Makes Phone Calls to 4 Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four congressmen have received calls from former President Richard Nixon since his resignation. One said Nixon mentioned his Watergate problems, but another said he just "wanted to talk to somebody."

Only two have been willing to discuss what was said.

The first call to be publicized was to Rep. Dan Kuykendall, R-Tenn., who said Monday Nixon told him he was being pressed by Watergate prosecutors. Others who reported calls "Mainly," he said, "it was a personal call, and he invited me if I was in California to come pay a visit. He mentioned that he certainly hoped I would support Jerry Ford, that he (Ford) would need help from the Congress."

Montgomery was asked if Nixon mentioned Watergate troubles.

"I did not get into that line with me and we didn't get into that area at all. I think he knows how Mississippians feel, that he still has their strong support," he said.

Kuykendall, a conservative, was the only one to report on the substance of the call. He said Nixon called him at a vacation home in Cheyenne, Tex., and told him, "we've got problems with that fellow ... uh ... uh ..."

Kuykendall brought up the name of the Watergate prosecutor, "Jaworski?" I said, He said "yes."

Leon Jaworski must decide whether to bring charges against Nixon for the Watergate cover-up. While president, Nixon was named as an unindicted co-conspirator by a 10-0 vote of a grand jury.

When he was contacted in New Orleans, Hebert said he, too, had been called by Nixon Monday. "It was a private conversation and that's all I'm going to say."

Helms said in Raleigh, N.C. he talked to Nixon last Wednesday but refused to discuss it.

Curtis said the call he made to Nixon was similar to the one Montgomery received and there were no discussions on "Watergate or anything else like that."

Reached in Scottsbluff, Neb., Curtis said he called Nixon after he left Washington Friday, "but I can't remember just when it was."

Meanwhile, former President Richard M. Nixon has retained Herbert John Miller Jr., a Washington attorney, to replace James D. St. Clair as his personal lawyer.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAXBE
(UPI Telephoto)

Samuels, Carey in Heated Exchange

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — The two contenders in next month's Democratic gubernatorial primary clashed before a candidates forum Tuesday night over who was more independent of the oil industry influence in New York State.

The clash between Howard Samuels and Rep. Hugh L. Carey, came before a 300-plus overflow crowd at a "Candidate Night Forum" sponsored by the Westchester County Democratic Committee at a Harrison, N.Y., restaurant.

For nearly an hour, both candidates politely presented their views on various issues and explained why party workers should support their respective campaigns.

But in answer to a question about safeguarding the environment, Samuels said one issue in the race was "who could be more independent from special oil interests" and noted that 90 per cent of Carey's campaign was financed by his brother, who owns an oil company.

Flushed with anger, Carey said that as an underdog candidate he had "to go to my family" for financial support. He then recounted his voting record in Congress against the oil depletion allowance and restrictions on oil imports.

Glancing over his shoulder toward Samuels, Carey then charged that Samuels had "held a position" in Mobil Chemical Co., part of the Mobil Oil Corp. He also charged that Samuels owned stock in another oil firm which specializes in high sulfur — therefore high polluting — fuel.

Samuels got up for a second time and said that his association with Mobil Chemical had ended years ago and that his position with the firm had nothing to do with oil policy.

In spite of the heated exchange, both candidates repeated that they would support the winner of the Sept. 10 gubernatorial primary.

Other candidates who appeared at the dinner were Attorney General hopefuls Bronx Borough President Robert Abrams and Rockland County District Attorney Robert Meehan.

Meehan, who had announced an important press conference for today, said although he had suffered from a lack of exposure in New York City and its surrounding counties, he insisted that his strength was "total" upstate, and predicted victory next month.

Others at the forum included three lieutenant gubernatorial hopefuls: State Sen. Mary Anne Krupsak; Assemblyman Antonio Oliveri and attorney Mario Cuomo.

Convicts Tell Story of Terror

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Jerry Ben Ulmer and Dalton Williams Tuesday told about three days of murder, rape, terror and running from the law.

They talked about stalking a rural farmer and killing him because he had testified at the trial that sent Williams, 29, to the Colorado State Penitentiary for armed robbery and assault.

"He (Williams) and Jerry

Ben crawled up to a position 35 or 40 yards in the grass in front of the residence of T.L. Baker, Erath District Attorney Bob Glasgow said. "They laid outside until Baker came out of the house."

"Mr. Baker came out of the house and Williams shot him four times with a .308 Magnum rifle, and after he shot him, he went up to the porch where he lay, looked at him and asked him if he recognized him."

"His statement was, 'Mr. Baker, do you recognize me?' He indicated Mr. Baker nodded his head, and Williams said, 'I want you to know why I killed you. I told you I was going to do it.'"

"There was a dog there, licking Mr. Baker's face. Jerry Ben shot the dog."

Williams and Ulmer, 22, were captured at a rural home Monday night and a third escapee, Richard Mangum, 22, was killed by officers. With half his face shot away, Mangum died face down in the mud cursing officers with his dying breaths.

The talked about killing Mrs. Ott.

"The death of Mrs. Ott was an execution," Glasgow said. "The woman never had a chance. Her head was blown off while the daughter watched."

They talked about finding two girls stranded along a New Mexico highway. "One was named Betty and one was named Janet," Glasgow said.

"Williams told the girls he wanted to have some sexual relations with them and if they didn't give in they would be killed," Glasgow said.

"Magnum had sexual relations with one of the girls beside the roadway and Williams had sexual relations with one of the girls in the back seat of the car."

The women were released after Baker was killed.

'Can Only Burn Me Once'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Bernardino Sierra, 25, his long, shiny, black hair combed back and a serpent tattooed on his chest, glanced jauntily at the television lights and smiled.

"They can only burn me once," he said, the grin quickly leaving his face.

"Money, I had to do it. Living don't come easy out there. We just went to robbing, that's all."

Sierra talked Tuesday night as he was chained to three other men sitting at a plain desk in the police homicide division.

Detectives said they were part of a robbery-murder ring known as the "Brady Bunch" — a leaderless gang responsible for the deaths of at least six persons. They were charged with capital murder.

killings occurred over a two-month period with no pattern.

"Their motive had mystery. They didn't plan," Karam said. "On the spur of the moment they decided to do it and sometimes they would kill. There was no remorse."

Charged with murder were Richard Vargas, 23, his sister, Emily Vargas Saenz, 20, Joe Louis, 24, Angel Fuentes, 21, Ernest Moya, 34, and Sierra.

Vargas, Louis, Fuentes and Sierra, dressed in baggy white jail uniforms, asked to talk with newsmen. Detectives obliged.

"I don't have much to say," Vargas said. "Only that it didn't bother me at all. I shot one in the head. I stabbed them. I didn't think of running over them or I would have run over them, too."

Louis and Fuentes said little. Detectives said they had signed confessions from all the suspects.

Assistant District Attorney George Karam said they called themselves the Brady Bunch because one of the men they murdered lived on Brady Street.

"I can't think of a more deserving bunch for the electric chair," Karam said.

"They were pretty cold. Pretty callous. They showed no remorse whatsoever," Karam said. "They would rob them and kill them if they got the urge. Most of the time they killed their victims to hide their identities."

Detectives and undercover agents worked on the case for several months. They said the

They talked about blasting through the door with a 12-gauge shotgun, injuring Lott, and about holding the farm couple and their daughter at gunpoint while they ransacked the house for more weapons.
